Coun. HAGAN—Mr. President, I realize that anything I will have to say on No. 9 will not have much weight, but I feel, nevertheless, as if something should be said. This is a matter that has been before this body for some time. It is a matter that appeared before the legislative body and was turned down. They refused to grant the privilege of borrowing money outside the debt limit for this purpose. Now the Mayor comes and wants to borrow within the debt limit to establish this short street, which most of the public-spirited bodies and a great many of the citizens of Boston believe is going to be of no value after it is widened, unless he be allowed to establish a parking station for the Parker House taxi cab. It is going to be of no value to the community unless it is extended away from the city up to the west of Boylston street, and that is a very far cry into the future. We are now asked to appropriate $500,000 for this project, and there is a great deal of honest opposition. We are told by the President of this body that if the trustees of the City Hospital should come in here next week or any other time this year asking for some additional money to build these buildings at the City Hospital, we can't give it to them because the borrowing capacity of the city inside the debt limit is exhausted. We are spending money here, if this order passes, in an unwise way, and we are laying ourselves open to criticism, because we will not, as I say, if the emergency arises, have enough money for the City Hospital Trustees. We have the further fact that there is opposition from all the public-spirited bodies of the city, who are opposed to the widening of Province street, in addition to the opposition from a great many people in this community. The fact ought to give us pause. I think certainly we should not act too hastily upon the matter. The reflection also suggests itself that in using this money for I think an unwise purpose for this specific purpose, you are leaving yourselves with such a position that, no matter what develops for the balance of the year, there will be no money available within the borrowing capacity of the city inside the debt limit, no matter how meritorious the project may be. I am now going to ask for the mature reflection of those members of the body who voted for the order at the last meeting of the Council, requesting that they consider what they are doing. I hope to see the order killed here today.

Coun. HEALEY—Mr. President, may I ask the Council to send for the chairman of the Board of Assessors to find out what the assessment is as of 1922 and 1921 on these particular lands, and what his intention is in the matter of assessment for 1923, particularly on the George L. Crocker estate?

President LANE—Is that a motion.

Coun. HEALEY—I would offer that as a suggestion, perhaps.

Coun. WATSON—I think it is a matter of roll call, as far as No. 9 on the calendar is concerned. Coun. HEALEY—Mr. President, if a roll call is to be insisted upon, I will just say this. I understand that there has been a stay in the plan of valuation of the property involved in the Crocker estate that will mean, even if it is to be taken on the basis of the assessed valuation, that the taking of the lot that will be involved in that case under the first plan may involve an extra cost to the city of $100,000. That, I understand, may be the case, even if it is bought at the assessed value. That is something that I think we should have information about.

The order was given its second and final reading and passage, yeas 6, nays 3.

Yeas—Coun. Brickley, Donoghue, Gibbody, Moriarty, Waish, Watson—6.

Nays—Coun. Hagin, Healey, Lane—3.

1. Report on petition of Boston & Maine Railroad (referred June 25) for sale of unclaimed baggage—recommending the passage of the following:

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

Coun. HAGAN moved a general reconsideration on all business transacted at the meeting, hoping that the same would not prevail. Lost.

Adjourned at 4.32 p. m., on motion of Coun. BRICKLEY at 4.32 p. m. on Monday, July 30 at 4.32 o'clock p. m.

POPULATION BY GEOGRAPHICAL DISTRICTS, UNITED STATES CENSUS.

East Boston (i. e., Wds. 1 and 2, including the island) 63,051 or 2,629 less than in 1915; Charlestown (Wds. 3 and 4) 31,272 or 5,329 less; Boston Proper (Wds. 5, 6, 7 and 8 and northern corner of Wds. 12 and 13) 170,637 or 25,063 decrease; South Boston (Wds. 9, 10 and northern part of Wd. 11 to Howell St.) 64,144 or 5,601 decrease; Roxbury (most of Wds. 12, 13, 14, 15 and all of Wd. 16) 135,024 or 7,341 increase; Dorchester (most of Wd. 11, Wds. 17, 18, 19, 20, 21 and part of 24) 157,932 or 19,813 increase; West Roxbury (including Jamaica Plain and Roslindale, i. e., Wds. 22 and 23) 63,190 or 7,119 increase; Brighton (Wds. 25 and 26) 41,724 or 6,942 increase; Hyde Park (most of Wd. 24) 15,086 or 628 increase. According to these unprecedented census returns, the five districts constituting the most densely inhabited part of Boston (i. e., from the northern boundary to Franklin Park, including Roxbury and South Boston) showed a net decrease from 1915 to 1920 amounting in all to 31,581, while the other four districts showed an increase of only 34,502. In the preceding five years, 1910-1915, the same five districts increased by 16,373 and the other four by 58,481, a total increase (omitting the 15,936 gained by annexation of Hyde Park in 1912) of 59,819, or more than 22 times the increase from 1915 to 1920 as shown by last U. S. Census.

EXPORTS AND IMPORTS, MASSACHUSETTS CUSTOMS DISTRICT FOR THE LAST YEAR.

Dating from July 1, 1913, the district includes Boston and the eight minor ports of the State. Value of exports in calendar year, 1921, $60,542,205 (i. e., $132,323,973 or 68.61 per cent less than in 1920); of imports, $163,945,237 (i. e., $227,884,919 or 58.16 per cent less than in 1920 and $135,419,762 or 45.24 per cent less than in 1919); total foreign trade, $224,487,442, a decrease of $360,208,892 or 61.61 per cent from 1920 and of $409,431,588 or 64.60 per cent from 1919. Boston's total foreign trade for year 1920 was next to the largest on record (viz. that of 1919) ranking fifth among American ports, New York, New Orleans, Philadelphia and Galveston leading. In 1919 Boston ranked fourth. As to imports alone, Boston ranked second, and as to exports alone, 17th in 1921 (the unusual decline in exports due largely to discrimination against Boston in through railroad freight rates). Tonnage of vessels in foreign trade in year 1921, entered 2,999,593 (i. e., 749,723 more than in 1920); cleared, 1,813,632 (i. e., 475,680 more); number of vessels entered, 1,434 (i. e., 253 more than in 1920); number cleared, 977 (i. e., 128 more).

FIRST REGULAR UNITED STATES BUDGET; SHOWING ESTIMATES FOR THE PRESENT YEAR.

Total receipts, $3,943,453,663; total expenditures, $3,967,922,366; viz., Interest on public debt, $975,000,000; Reduction of public debt, $387,942,200; Navy Dept., $478,580,000; War Dept., $396,311,255; United States Veterans' Bureau, $438,122,400; Pensions, $258,400,000; Railroad Administration and Transportation Act, $337,679,235; Treasury Dept., $169,871,163; Good Roads Act, $105,000,000; Shipping Board and Fleet Corporation, $73,911,081; Department of Interior, including Indian Service, $68,140,829; Department of Agriculture, $48,637,100; State, Justice, Commerce, Labor, Legislative, etc., $126,646,870; all other, $103,410,233. Total appropriations for year ending June 30, 1922, as passed, $3,960,354,621, which is nearly six times the total for 1916.

ERECTION OF EAST BOSTON'S NEW $1,350,000 HIGH SCHOOL SOON TO BE STARTED UNDER DIRECTION OF MAYOR CURLEY.

BIDS ON STRUCTURE WHICH WILL GIVE NODDLE ISLAND SECTION BEST BUILDING OF ITS KIND IN NEW ENGLAND OPENED FRIDAY—WORK OF CUTTING DOWN EAGLE HILL SITE BEGINS IN WEEK.

EAGLE HILL, FROM WHICH 120,000 CUBIC YARDS OF SOIL WILL BE TAKEN TO PREPARE SITE FOR EAST BOSTON'S NEW 36-ROOM HIGH SCHOOL.

Bids were opened Friday for the new $1,350,000 high school to be built in East Boston, by the Schoolhouse Department, under direction of Mayor Curley. Work on cutting away the 120,000 cubic yards of soil from Eagle Hill in which the new high school is to be built is expected to begin early next week. When completed this will give East Boston one of the finest high schools in the country.

The site of the new high school is at the corner of White and Brooks streets and contains 220,875 square feet of land and the contractor will cut away 21 feet of the hill at a cost of $125,000. When leveled for the foundation of the school, at one side the hill will be but 7 feet high and at the other but 4. It is planned to have the hill site ready for the foundation and the work of construction about October 1.

Up to 1920 the hill has housed a reservoir which was formerly used as one of the city's supplies of water. It has been abandoned some time, however, as a source of supply. In 1920 the reservoir was filled in and the lot turned over to the Park Department as a playground site. It was transferred to the Schoolhouse Department by act of the Legislature.

The new school will contain thirty-six rooms and will accommodate 1,500 pupils. It is expected to be completed in two years. When ready for occupancy the site of the present high school will be turned into an intermediate school for the Emerson School District.

Coincident with the announcement of the opening of bids for this school it was stated that when the school term opens in the fall the Schoolhouse Department will have provided a seat for every pupil. This was one of the ambitions of Mayor Curley when he took office and is another of his campaign pledges that will have been fulfilled.

Four new buildings will be ready for occupancy on September 5. They are the Theodore Parker, with four rooms; the Theodore Roosevelt, with eighteen; the William McKinley, with eight, and the Andrew Jackson, with twelve. Besides these additions will be completed by that time on the Winship and John Lothrop Motley schools. These new buildings and additions will greatly relieve the present congested situation, according to the Schoolhouse Commissioners.

Besides those to be finished for occupancy by September 5, fourteen new buildings are in the process of erection and the plans for seventeen more school buildings are in the hands of the architects, seven of them being nearly ready for bids.

$300,000 SAVED TO CITY BY NOTABLE VICTORY IN COURT.

HON. E. MARK SULLIVAN, CORPORATION COUNSEL, WINS DECISION IN CIRCUIT COURT OF APPEALS AGAINST CONTRACTOR PATRICK MCGOVERN & CO., IN DORCHESTER TUNNEL LEASE.

E. Mark Sullivan, Corporation Counsel, of the City of Boston, achieved a notable victory resulting in a saving to the city of $300,000.

In December 16, 1914, the Boston Transit Commission, acting in behalf of the City of Boston, entered into a contract with Patrick McGovern & Co. to construct Section E of the Dorchester Tunnel, which was authorized by chapter 741 of the Acts of 1911.

While the work was in progress McGovern ran into lodge which he claimed was not anticipated by the contract, and claimed that it caused him considerable damage. He, however, completed the contract, and thereupon brought a bill in equity in the Massachusetts Supreme Court on February 28, 1917, asking for a rescission of the contract and for a recovery for work done and labor and materials furnished, and claimed that he had been defrauded by the city and the Transit Commissioners in that they had misrepresented the excavation to be done on their plans.

The case was dismissed in the Massachusetts Supreme Court, and McGovern immediately commenced the same proceedings before the District Court of the United States. The case was sent to a master who found for McGovern and awarded him damages for $135,075.77, with interest from date of completion of the work.

The case was then heard by a single justice (Mr. Justice Johnson), who sustained the master, found that fraud had been committed, and that the city was liable in the sum of $236,000, with interest at 6 per cent from October, 1916, or approximately $200,000.

The City of Boston thereupon appealed to the Circuit Court of Appeals from his decision claiming that there was no fraud, that at best there was an honest mistake on the part of both parties, and that even though a mistake was made that McGovern did not suffer any material damage as was evidenced by the handsome profit he made, that as a matter of law the City of Boston was not liable anyway for the acts of the Transit Commissioners, their servants or agents, as they are public officers, and further that the City of Boston could not be held liable except on a written contract as provided by statute and that if the contract was rescinded there was no contract for McGovern to rely upon.

The City of Boston assigned 118 errors to the finding of the district judge. The Circuit Court of Appeals has this day reversed the finding of the district judge and overruled the master, and has found that there is no fraud and that the City of Boston cannot be held liable. It has ordered the decree of the lower court reversed and the case remanded to the District Court with instructions to dismiss the bill with costs to the city in both the Circuit Court of Appeals and in the District Court.

By this decision in favor of the city, the City of Boston saves approximately $300,000, for if the verdict was in favor of McGovern he would have had to receive the lower court verdict, together with additional costs and interest which would bring the total sum due up to approximately $300,000.

The case has been pending since 1917, when it was first brought into the Massachusetts Supreme Court. It was heard before Judge Remick of New Hampshire as master for over three hundred and sixty days and over six thousand pages of testimony were taken during the hearing before the master.

The city will recover court costs roughly estimated over $10,000.

MOVES FOR PROVINCE STREET WIDENING.

A conference was held at the office of the Mayor Thursday to consider action relative to the widening of Province street in view of the decision handed down by Judge Carroll.

The ruling of Judge Carroll in the Province street case in effect relieves the city of financial liability in connection with damage resulting to property owners on Province street unless the decision of Judge Carroll is overruled by the Supreme Court.

Upon recommendation of the Corporation Counsel, Hon. E. Mark Sullivan, pending determination of this case by the Supreme Court upon the report of Mr. Justice Carroll, the Street Commissioners will proceed with the order for widening of Province street, but no damages will be paid under the order establishing the building line.

It was decided, regardless of the question of legality of the original action

MAYOR CURLEY STARTS ACTIVE CAMPAIGN FOR COAL FOR BOSTON.

CALLS ATTENTION OF JOHN HAYS HAMMOND, CHAIRMAN OF THE FEDERAL FUEL COMMISSION, TO SCARCITY OF ANTHRACITE AND ASKS FOR EMBARGO TO HALT EXPORT—SENDS EMISSARY TO MINES TO BUY 50,000 TONS.

Mayor Curley took active steps Thursday to save, if possible, the citizens of Boston from such suffering as the coal famine, when he sent a letter to Hon. John Hays Hammond, at Gloucester, urging an embargo on export coal and calling attention to the dire need of New England as shown by investigation.

The Mayor also delegated Frank P. Rock, Superintendent of Supplies, to visit the coal mine region immediately to arrange if possible for 50,000 tons of anthracite coal so that Boston may not suffer this winter.

The Mayor's letter to John Hays Hammond is as follows:

Boston, July 26, 1923.

HON. JOHN HAYS HAMMOND, Gloucester, Mass.:

DEAR SIR,—The Superintendent of Supplies of the City of Boston reports this day that the total amount of anthracite coal in the possession of dealers in Boston is not in excess of 25,000 tons.

This amount of coal is only sufficient for one day's requirement for the City of Boston, and it is apparent that the dealers in fuel propose to force the consumption of bituminous coal.

The use of bituminous coal last year for household purposes, in the opinion of the chief of the Fire Department, was responsible for the increase in the number of fires that occurred throughout the city and state.

The Building Commissioner for the City of Boston reports that the chimneys in places of habitation in Boston, in fact throughout the Commonwealth, are not constructed to permit of consumption, with any degree of safety, of bituminous coal.

Believing that the situation is sufficiently grave, I beg to suggest immediate investigation and the adoption of such emergency measures, including embargo on anthracite to points outside of United States, as, in your opinion, may be deemed necessary for the protection of the public.

Sincerely yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

The Mayor sent the following communication to the Superintendent of the Supply Department:

MR. FRANK P. ROCK, Superintendent, Supply Department, City Hall Annex, Boston:

DEAR MR. ROCK,—The best interests of the people of Boston require that precautionary measures be taken in the event that the city, for the protection of the public, is again required to engage in the purchase, sale and distribution of coal.

You are hereby directed to visit the anthracite regions and ascertain what arrangements can be made relative to the price and delivery of twenty-five to fifty thousand tons of anthracite coal.

Sincerely yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

NEW RADIOTONES OF FORMER MAYORS INSPECTED MONDAY.

Many relatives and friends of former chief executives of the city or descendants of these will be welcomed at City Hall Monday afternoon when the new radiotone portraits of former mayors are opened to public view.

Mayor Curley wrote to Mrs. Peters that he would specially like to greet her on this event, since she is a granddaughter of John Phillips, Boston's first mayor, whose portrait hangs alongside that of Mr. Curley, just above the mayoral desk, and remote from the others.

Those receiving invitations are:

Mrs. John C. Phillips, Hon. William Phillips and Mrs. Andrew J. Peters, descendants of the late Hon. John Phillips.

William S. Appleton, occupying the former home of the late Hon. Harrison Gray Otis, the third mayor of Boston.

Hon. George H. Lyman, lineal descendant of the late Hon. Theodore Lyman, Jr.

Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus, Harvard University, Cambridge, and members of the Eliot family, descendants of the late Hon. Samuel A. Eliot.

Grenville H. Norcross and relatives of the late Hon. Otis Norcross.

H. Clifford Gallagher and relatives of the late Hon. Henry L. Pierce.

TAX ABATEMENT.

The Mayor has approved the action of the Board of Street Commissioners, which, in the matter of the application for revision of assessment levied on account of the construction of sewerage works, acting under the provisions of chapter 359 of the acts of the year 1896,

Ordered, That the amount hereinafter specified, being the annual apportionment of said assessment for the year specified below, be and the same is hereby abated:

	Amount.
Olive M. and Ernest A. Browne, 1922 apportionment, Plan 65, 1913, lot 3, Spring street, April 30, 1915,	$7 25
Olive M. and Ernest A. Browne, 1922 apportionment, Plan 65, 1913, lot 4, Spring street, April 30, 1915,	7 25

CARNIVALS ARE BARRED.

Mayor Curley has received a communication from the members of the Licensing Board for the City of Boston advising that the Board agrees with and approves the protest of the Mayor against further issuing of permits for the conduct of outdoor carnivals.

Mayor Curley in presenting his protest to the Licensing Board declared that he believed these entertainments a menace to the morals of the community and also served to create in many cases a nuisance.

Mayor Curley lacked particular attention in conference with the Licensing Board to the fact that during his first term as Mayor he had refused every similar request for license for outdoor amusements, they being in his judgment a menace to the community in which they requested permission to operate.

The Mayor is especially pleased to learn that the Licensing Board approved his request in the premises in so far that the best interests of the city require that no further permits be issued for carnivals and amusements.

CONTRACTS AWARDED.

Permission to award contracts for work, materials and supplies, in accordance with recommendation of department heads, has been approved by the Mayor.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Paving Service).

Upon July 24 the Mayor approved a contract with B. E. Grant Company for re-cut granite block and wood block pavement in Chauncy street, from Summer street to Essex street; Essex street, from Oxford street to Atlantic avenue; and Harrison avenue from Beach street to Harvard street, city proper. Bids for the work, opened July 17, were as follows:

J. Conway, $19,456.50; M. D. Russo, $22,207; W. B. Byrne, $22,886; A. Baruffaldi Company, $23,952.50; C. Russo, $27,428.50; J. Guarino & Co., $25,072.50.

Upon July 24 the Mayor approved a contract with C. Russo, for sewerage works in Bates road, from Beaumont street to Elm road, Dorchester. Bids for the work, opened July 19, were as follows:

C. Russo, $2,492.50; George J. Regan, $2,559.50; Timothy Coughlin, $2,751.75; A. Daddario, $2,898.25; J. W. O'Connell, $2,928.25; J. Guarino & Co., $2,936.25; J. Williams & Co., $3,059.25; R. Zoppo, $3,086.75.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Water Service).

Upon July 24 the Mayor approved a contract with John Williams & Co. for laying and relaying water pipes in Day street, from Hyde square to Heath street, Roxbury. Bids for the work, opened July 16, were as follows:

John Williams & Co., $11,100; V. Grande, $13,600; V. Barletta, $14,200; R. & V. Schena Company, $16,200; J. T. Shea, Jr., $18,300; J. W. O'Connell, $18,650.

SCHOOLHOUSE DEPARTMENT.

Upon July 24 the Mayor approved a contract with the Acme Heating and Ventilating Company for installing and completing new heating and ventilating system in the Old Agassiz School. Bids for the work, opened July 17, were as follows:

Acme Heating and Ventilating Company, $7,197; General Construction and Repair Company, $7,790; J. J. Hurley & Co., $7,868; Huey Brothers Company, $7,888; J. P. Dwyer Company, $7,965; Ingalls and Kendricksen, Inc., $8,373; T. J. Duff & Co., $8,400; Massachusetts Sprinkler, Plumbing and Heating Company, $8,989.

Upon July 24 the Mayor approved a contract with the General Construction and Repair Company for additions and alterations to heating system in the Washington Allston School. Bids for the work, opened July 10, were as follows:

General Construction and Repair Company, $9,285; J. J. Hurley & Co., $9,440; J. P. Dwyer Company, $9,777; Acme Heating and Ventilating Company, $10,744.

Upon July 24 the Mayor approved a contract with the Somerset Company for roofing and metal work at the John Cheverus School. Bids for the work, opened July 10, were as follows:

Somerset Company, $3,145; Cavanaugh & Earley, $3,745; W. A. Murtfeldt Company, $3,940; E. Van Noorden Company, $4,348; John J. Hourihan, $4,850; J. E. Morin, $5,290.

Upon July 24 the Mayor approved a contract with W. J. Flynn & Co. for installing plumbing repairs in the Normal School. Bids for the work, opened July 16, were as follows:

P. F. Russo, $1,398; W. J. Flynn & Co., $2,350; Stephen Connolly, $2,400.

The lowest bidder, P. F. Russo, advised the Board that he had made a mistake in figuring the work, and withdrew his bid.

Upon July 24 the Mayor approved a contract with F. W. Zemeir & Co., Inc., for installing new steam heating boiler and making changes to present heating and ventilating system in the Hillside School. Bids for the work, opened July 17, were as follows:

F. W. Zemeir & Co., Inc., $3,590; J. P. Dwyer Company, $3,669; J. J. Hurley & Co., $3,715; General Construction and Repair Company, $4,190; Acme Heating and Ventilating Company, $4,234; Ingalls & Kendricksen, Inc., $4,365.

Upon July 24 the Mayor approved a contract with the Heywood-Wakefield Company for furnishing and delivering chairs at the School Administration Building. The first two bidders named submitted samples, as required by the specifications. The sample submitted by the Heywood-Wakefield Company was found to be much stronger and of much more durable construction than that submitted by the lowest bidder, and as the price named by that company was but 45 cents per chair in excess of the lowest bid (there being 200 chairs called for), the Board has voted to award the contract to Heywood-Wakefield Company, 174 Portland street, the second lowest bidder, in the sum of $1,430. Bids for the supply, opened July 17, were as follows:

H. W. Doten, $1,340; Heywood-Wakefield Company, $1,430; Kenney Brothers & Wolkins, $1,430.

Upon July 24 the Mayor approved a contract with the Edgeworth Steel Company for furnishing and installing sheet metal working machinery on the third floor of the Austin School. Bids for the work, opened July 17, were as follows:

Edgeworth Steel Company, $1,104; Richards & Co., $1,123.16; Herrick Company, $1,153.85.

Upon July 24 the Mayor approved a contract with Samuel Stephens & Wickersham Quoin Company for furnishing and installing printing equipment on the second floor of the Oliver Holden School. Bids for the supply, opened July 17, were as follows:

Samuel Stephens & Wickersham Quoin Company, $1,693.10; H. C. Hansen Type Foundry Company, $1,701.30; American Type Founders Company, $1,727.48.

Upon July 24 the Mayor approved a contract with H. T. Lindsay & Son for furnishing, delivering and setting up opera chairs in various schools. Bids for the supply, opened July 6, were as follows:

Heywood-Wakefield Company, portable opera chairs, finished in light, golden, antique, walnut or fumed, $4.20; H. T. Lindsay & Son, portable opera chairs, finished in natural, antique, golden or fumed, $4.20; portable opera chairs, finished in mahogany, green, silver gray or special color, $4.45.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

Upon the dates below mentioned the School Committee approved the award of contracts on science apparatus and supplies for the public schools. Bids for the

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts, awarded without advertising; requests of heads of departments to do the work with the department forces without advertising; additions to and deductions from contracts.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Artificial Stone Sidewalks.)

Upon July 24 the Mayor approved a contract with A. G. Tomasello & Son for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks. A communication from Joseph A. Rourke, Commissioner of the Public Works Department, was as follows:

Boston, July 23, 1923.

To the Mayor of Boston:

Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to A. G. Tomasello & Son, 68 Devonshire street, Boston, is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance but by the abutters; and secondly, the expense of construction being divided by the city and abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,

JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Upon July 24 the Mayor approved a contract with Metzger, Fisher & White for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks. A communication from Joseph A. Rourke, of the Public Works Department, was as follows:

Boston, July 19, 1923.

To the Mayor of Boston:

Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to Metzger, Fisher & White, Otis Building, Philadelphia, Penn., is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance but by the abutters; and secondly, the expense of construction being divided by the city and abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,

JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Sewerage Works).

Upon July 18 the Mayor approved a contract with John Guarino & Co. for laying pipe sewer in Atlantis street, from Lassell street 180 feet northwest-ly, Roxbury. A communication from Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

Boston, July 17, 1923.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

Your approval is respectfully requested to the award of a contract, without advertising, for laying pipe sewer in Atlantis street, from Lassell street 180 feet northwest-ly, West Roxbury, to John Guarino & Co., at an estimated cost of $983. The work to be done under this contract is to be completed on or before September 8, 1923.

This work, if publicly advertised, would probably not be started for four weeks and for that reason John Guarino & Co.'s bid has been accepted in order that operations can start immediately. This job is included in the line of sewers desired to be built as presented to the City Council two weeks ago within the Charles River area.

Respectfully yours,

JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Water Service.)

Upon July 24 the Mayor approved a contract with the Pitometer Company of New York for water waste survey of Northern high service. A communication from Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

Boston, July 20, 1923.

To the Honorable, the Mayor of Boston:

Your approval is respectfully requested to the awarding of a contract, without advertising, to the Pitometer Company of New York, for water waste survey of Northern high service, known as East Boston and Breed's Island, and extra high service, known as West Roxbury and Hyde Park, Sections 13 and 14 of Pitometer plan. Estimated cost, nine thousand dollars ($9,000).

Very respectfully,

JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

Upon July 18 the Mayor approved a contract with the Radium Chemical Company for furnishing to the Hospital Department, Boston City Hospital, 100 milligrams of radium. A communication from Frank P. Rock, superintendent of the Supply Department, was as follows:

Boston, July 17, 1923.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract, without advertising, to the Radium Chemical Company for furnishing to the Hospital Department, Boston City Hospital, 100 milligrams of radium at a price of $73.50 per milligram, making the total amount of the contract $7,350. This radium is to be divided into eight 123-milligram needles.

The Radium Chemical Company are distributors for the Standard Chemical Company, and the Standard Chemical Company are the largest producers of radium in the United States. In purchasing radium it is necessary to depend a great deal upon the concern with whom you are doing business, and as this concern produces about 75 per cent of the radium used in the United States, I feel that the best interests of the city would be protected by purchasing this radium direct from this concern. The Hospital Department Trustees, after careful investigation, have also recommended that I purchase the radium from this concern.

The last radium purchased for the City Hospital cost $152 per milligram and was brought to this country from Europe, so that in making this purchase in the United States we are securing a considerably lower price.

Trusting that this award will meet with your approval, I am,

Respectfully yours,

FRANK P. ROCK,
Superintendent of Supplies.

ADDITIONS TO AND DEDUCTIONS FROM CONTRACTS.

The following additions to and deductions from contracts have been approved:

PUBLIC BUILDINGS DEPARTMENT.

M. Sereito has been ordered to make a change in contract for erecting and completing Police Station No. 2 building, as follows: Furnish and install 206 pair safety window guard bolts as directed. Price $285 complete, and the amount of $285 will be added thereto, making the amount as follows: Contract price, $530,000; total additions, $285; amount of contract, $530,285.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Bridge Service).

An addition, amounting to $2,200, on contract with the Rudolph Jergenson Company for foundations for ferry bridges for the South Ferry, on account of placing extra rods; taking out concrete, etc., in piers of Boston side; excavating on the inshore end, Boston side, and placing reinforced concrete mat for foundations of bridge. Original contract, $23,959.20; total addition, $2,200; contract as standing, $26,159.20.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Paving Service).

An addition, amounting to $100, on contract with Patrick J. Duffy for granite block pavement in Charles street, city proper, on account of culling recut granite blocks at the Massachusetts avenue lot. Original contract, $3,361.20; total additions, $150; contract as standing, $3,511.20.

An addition amounting to $500, on contract with B. E. Grant Company for recut granite block pavement in Merchants row and South Market street, city proper, on account of loading and hauling second-hand granite blocks from Massachusetts avenue lot to Commercial street, between State street and Clinton street. Original contract, $32,370.25; total additions, $10,000; contract as standing, $42,370.25.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Sewer Service).

An addition, amounting to $123.75, on contract with DeCristoforo & Brothers Company for sewerage works in Patterson and Fairfax streets, Dorchester, on account of performing extra labor to excavate trench; laying 10-inch pipe surface drain and backfilling trench on account of 1½-inch iron water pipe foundation in main trench between stations 1+29 and 2+94. Original contract, $3,505.85; total addition, $123.75; contract as standing, $3,629.60.

SCHOOLHOUSE DEPARTMENT.

Archdeacon & Sullivan have been allowed a deduction of $560 for using granolithic to replace granite paving on roof of coal pocket at the Washington Allston District School, including 4 by 4 angle iron on side running to Armington street, as per architects' letter of July 7, 1923, making the account as follows: Contract price, $155,986; total additions, $11,690.36; total deductions, $1,971.60; amount of contract, $162,704.76.

C. & R. Construction Company have been allowed the following: Addition: The Charles R. Gow Company estimate, $17,651; reinforcing (Penn. Metal Company), $310—$117,961; plus 10 per cent allowed, $1,796; total, $19,757. Deductions: Concrete wall, footing and underpinning, 108 cubic yards at $16, $2,688; shoring wall of old building, $365; total deductions, $3,053; $3,053; not addition, $16,704—as per architects' letter of July 6, 1923, to the Julia Ward Howe School, making the account as follows: Contract price, $120,500; total additions, $16,704; amount of contract, $137,204.

EXTENSION OF CONTRACTS.

PARK DEPARTMENT.

C. & R. Construction Company have been granted an extension of time until August 22, 1923, for the completion of contract for the erection of a sanitary and locker building on the Christopher J. Lee Playground.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Paving Service).

B. E. Grant Company have been granted an extension of the time for completion of the contract for paving with recut granite block Merchants row, from State street to North street, and South Market street, from Merchants row to Commercial street, from August 1, 1923, to September 15, 1923, for the reason that the contractor has been delayed by underground corporation work in Merchants row.

The M. Pleasant Contracting Company have been granted extension of the time for completion of the contract for laying bitulithic pavement in Elmhurst street, from Norfolk street to Southern avenue; Chesterton street, from Massachusetts avenue to Allerton street, and Zamora street, from Perkins street to Castleton street, from August 1, 1923, to September 1, 1923. The contract is now being completed by the bonding company (New Amsterdam Casualty Company, Surety). This extension has been requested for the reason that the contractor has been delayed by the inability to get stock.

The Alco Contracting Company, Inc., have been granted extension of the time for completion of the contract for paving with bituminous macadam Boardman street, from Saratoga street to the Boston & Maine Railroad, from August 1, 1923, to November 1, 1923. This extension has been requested for the reason that the contractor has been delayed in making the fill during the winter and also on account of corporation work.

Martino De Matteo has been granted extension of the time for completion of the contract for paving with sheet asphalt and recut granite block Hampden street, from Albany street to Dudley street; and Adams street, from Hampden street to Yeoman street, from August 1, 1923, to October 1, 1923. This extension has been requested for the reason that the contractor has been delayed by the Telephone Company laying a new conduit through the street.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Sewer Service).

William Barrett & Co. have been given an extension of time for completion of contract for building sewerage works for Village Brook, Brighton, from Brookline line to Pendergast avenue, from July 14, 1923, to September 29, 1923 (77 days). This extension is due partly to the volume of water coming down the old channel of the brook and partly to difficulties encountered in excavation.

EXTRA WORK UNDER CONTRACT.

Antony Baruffaldi has been directed to perform the following extra work under contract for building sewerage works in Glendale road outlet, section 1, and North avenue, between Metropolitan sewer and Centre street, West Roxbury, dated August 2, 1921. Items ordered: relocate 4-inch fire pipe at 378 Washington street; relocate 3-inch and 4-inch pipes to 91 and 93 Oliver street; remove and replace 75 feet 12-inch water pipe in Washington street, between Franklin and Bromfield streets; move coal in 57 Oliver street to allow hydrant vault to be built; repair manhole conduit of Edison Company on Oliver street, at High street; reset three water service gate boxes on Franklin street; cut out telephone conduits on Oliver street; at High street; handle rails of Elevated Company on Franklin street—at an estimated cost of $725.

CONSTRUCTION WORK.

The Public Works Department, at the request of Joseph A. Rourke, Commissioner, has been given authority to resurface with asphalt macadam Porter street, East Boston, from Chelsea street to Cottage street, with division forces, without inviting proposals therefor, the estimated cost for labor and material being $4,000. This is maintenance work and can be done as advantageously by day labor methods as any work now necessary.

The Mayor has approved the request of Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department for the following construction work:

A sanitary sewer of 12-inch earthen pipe in Brookford street, between Dacia street and Rand street, in the Roxbury district, at an estimated cost of $2,288.

A sanitary sewer of 10-inch earthen pipe in Lagrange street, between Vale street and a point 1,062 feet northwesterly, in the West Roxbury district, at an estimated cost of $7,780.

A sanitary sewer of 15-inch earthen pipe and one catch-basin in Post Office square, easterly side, between Water street and Bath street, and in Bath street, from Post Office square 91 feet southeasterly and easterly in the city proper district, at an estimated cost of $3,789.

A sanitary sewer and surface drain of 10-inch and 18-inch pipe, respectively, and one basin in Colonial road, from Melton road 71 feet northwesterly; a 10-inch pipe sanitary sewer, 10-inch pipe surface drain, and two basins in Blenford road, between Melton road and Board of Survey street No. 2396; a 10-inch pipe sanitary sewer and 10-inch pipe surface drain in Board of Survey street No. 2396, between Blenford road and Union street; a 24-inch pipe surface drain in Union street, between Board of Survey street No. 2396 and Shepard street, and a 24-inch pipe surface drain in Shepard street, from Union street 240 feet northwesterly, in the Brighton district, at an estimated cost of $23,041.

LAND-TAKING IN HYDE PARK.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of land by right of eminent domain for lands, rights and easements, as follows:

The right and easement is taken to lay and maintain sewerage works in the following described lands, exclusive of any interest in trees, buildings or other structures standing thereon, reserving to the owners thereof the right to use the lands for any purpose except such as may injure or obstruct said works, and except for placing or maintaining any structure on said lands not authorized in writing by the Mayor of said city; trees, buildings or other structures standing upon or affixed to the land in which an easement is hereby taken are to be removed therefrom within sixty days following a notice of the city's intention to enter upon said land for the purpose of constructing said sewerage works. Said lands are in that part of Boston formerly Hyde Park and are bounded as follows:

A parcel of land, owners unknown, being part of the private way known as Wilton street, bounded:

Northwesterly by easement taken by the City of Boston for sewerage purposes in Wilton street December 22, 1916, six feet; northeasterly by another part of Wilton street, one hundred and sixty feet; southeasterly by another part of Wilton street, six feet; southwesterly by another part of Wilton street, one hundred and sixty feet; containing nine hundred and sixty square feet, more or less.

The sewerage works to be constructed are as follows: 150 linear feet of 10-inch pipe sanitary sewer, in the above described premises, being part of the private way known as Wilton street, Hyde Park.

Betterments are to be assessed for the making of the improvement ordered herein.

This Board determines that no person sustains damages in his estate by the taking of the aforesaid easement and construction of said sewerage works and awards no damages therefor.

Ordered, That this Board estimates that the land on the northwesterly side of said Wilton street, comprising four lots supposed to belong to Mary J. Bleakie, trustee, with a frontage on said street of approximately 233 feet northwesterly from the Neponset river, and the two parcels on the southwesterly side of said street, supposed to belong to Robert Bleakie heirs and Jacob Gordon, with a frontage of approximately 263 feet northwesterly from Neponset river, will receive benefit or advantage other than the general advantage to the community from the improvement ordered herein, each of the particular lots to the amount respectively set against it herein; said lots and the supposed owners thereof being shown on a plan marked "City of Boston, Plan No. 514, Sewerage Works, Wilton Street, Hyde Park, May 17, 1923, F. O. Whitney, Chief Engineer, Street Laying-Out Department," on file in the office of said department.

POLICE PROMOTIONS POLICY REVERSED.

According to an opinion from Corporation Counsel E. Mark Sullivan that "the Police Commissioner may make promotions without first holding competitive examinations," the present policy which has been in force for years is reversed.

Some time ago Police Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson asked for an opinion from Attorney-General Benton, doubt having arisen as to construction of the statutes in the latest revision.

The Attorney-General ruled that the matter of holding examinations for promotion is discretionary with the Civil Service Commission.

Commissioner Wilson held a conference with the Civil Service Commission and then asked the Corporation Counsel for an opinion. After reviewing the statutes, Mr. Sullivan says:

"I am of the opinion that, though appointments and promotions in the Police Department of the City of Boston are subject to civil service rules and regulations, they are not subject to the requirement that competitive examinations be held before eligible lists can be considered to be existent, and that therefore the police commissioner may make promotions without first holding competitive examinations."

LAND-TAKING IN DORCHESTER.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of land by eminent domain for sewerage works, land, rights and easements, as follows:

The right and easement is taken to lay and maintain sewerage works in the following described lands, exclusive of any interest in trees, buildings or other structures standing thereon, reserving to the owners thereof the right to use the lands for any purposes except such as may injure or obstruct said works, and except for placing or maintaining any structure on said lands not authorized in writing by the Mayor of said city; trees, buildings or other structures standing upon or affixed to the land in which an easement is hereby taken are to be removed therefrom within sixty days following a notice of the city's intention to enter upon said taking for the purpose of constructing said sewerage works. Said lands are in that part of Boston formerly Dorchester and are bounded as follows:

A parcel of land, owners unknown, being part of the private way known as Collins street, bounded:

Northwesterly by another part of Collins street, eight feet; northeasterly by another part of Collins street, three hundred forty-five feet; easterly by Blue Hill avenue, nine and 57-100 feet; southwesterly by another part of Collins street, three hundred fifty and 25-100 feet; containing two thousand seven hundred and eighty-one square feet, more or less.

The sewerage works to be constructed are as follows: 250 linear feet of 12-inch pipe sanitary sewer, in the above described premises, being part of the private way known as Collins street, leading northwesterly from Blue Hill avenue for a distance of about three hundred and fifty feet.

Betterments are to be assessed for the making of the improvement ordered herein.

This Board determines that no person sustains damages in his estate by the taking of the aforesaid easement and construction of said sewerage works, and awards no damages therefor.

Ordered, That this Board estimates that all the lots of land abutting on both sides of Collins street, for a distance of about three hundred and fifty feet northwesterly from Blue Hill avenue, will receive benefit or advantage, other than the general advantage to the community, from the improvement ordered herein, each of the particular lots to the amount respectively set against it herein; said lots and the supposed owners thereof being shown on a plan marked "City of Boston, Plan No. 513, Sewerage Works, Collins street, Dorchester, May 9, 1923, F. O. Whitney, Chief Engineer, Street Laying-Out Department," and on file in the office of said department.

LAND-TAKING IN WEST ROXBURY.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of land and buildings, four estates, bounded by Poplar and Florence streets, and school property of the City of Boston, West Roxbury district, for schoolhouse purposes, including the trees, buildings and other structures standing upon or affixed thereto:

A parcel of land, with building thereon, supposed to belong to George W. Cobleigh, bounded:

Northerly by Florence street, one hundred eight and 20-100 feet; easterly by land of the City of Boston formerly taken for school purposes, fifty-two and 5-100 feet; southerly by land hereinafter described as taken from Archibald and Charlotte A. Young, one hundred four and 73-100 feet; westerly by Poplar street, eighty and 42-100 feet; containing six thousand nine hundred and thirty-two square feet, more or less.

A parcel of land, with building thereon, supposed to belong to Archibald and Charlotte A. Young, bounded:

Northerly by land hereinafter described as taken from George W. Cobleigh, one hundred four and 73-100 feet; easterly by land of the City of Boston, formerly taken for school purposes, fifty-five feet; southerly by land hereinafter described as taken from Massachusetts Housing Corporation, one hundred four and 85-100 feet; westerly by Poplar street, fifty-five feet; containing five thousand seven hundred and sixty-three square feet, more or less.

A parcel of land, with building thereon, supposed to belong to Massachusetts Housing Corporation, bounded:

Northerly by land hereinafter described as taken from Archibald and Charlotte A. Young, one hundred four and 85-100 feet; easterly by land of the City of Boston formerly taken for school purposes, fifty-five feet; southerly by land hereinafter described as taken from Ellen T. Murray, one hundred five and 3-100 feet; westerly by Poplar street, fifty-five feet; containing five thousand seven hundred and seventy-two square feet, more or less.

A parcel of land, with building thereon, supposed to belong to Ellen T. Murray, bounded:

Northerly by land hereinafter described as taken from Massachusetts Housing Corporation, one hundred five and 3-100 feet; easterly by land of the City of Boston formerly taken for school purposes, fifty-eight and 30-100 feet; southerly by land of the city of Boston, formerly taken for school purposes, one hundred five and 20-100 feet; westerly by Poplar street, sixty feet; containing six thousand two hundred and seventeen square feet, more or less.

Said parcels are shown on a plan marked "City of Boston, Hawthorne Street and Poplar Street, West Roxbury, November 8, 1920, F. O. Whitney, Chief Engineer Street Laying-out Department," and on file in the office of said department.

Voted, That this Board determines that the undermentioned estates sustain damages by the takings made for school purposes on Poplar street, West Roxbury district, under the order of this Board, in the amounts hereinafter set against them, and awards said amounts therefor.

CITY MAY HANDLE FUEL FOR PUBLIC AGAIN NEXT WINTER.

MAYOR CURLEY ANNOUNCES DETERMINATION TO PROTECT CITIZENS FROM GOUGING DEALERS AGAIN, IF RETAIL PRICE GOES ABOVE $16 PER TON. 14,000 FAMILIES SAVED FROM SUFFERING.

Mayor Curley made the following statement Tuesday following receipt of the report of Frank P. Rock, Fuel Administrator for handling fuel sold to citizens last winter during the coal crisis.

The report of the Supply Department, as here submitted, discloses the fact that approximately fourteen thousand families were provided with coal or coke during the winter of 1922-23.

The price of the coal sold by the city was $14.50 per ton as against a price ranging from $16 a ton charged by the coal dealers. The result of the city's experiment in the handling and sale of coal not only provided a measure of relief to 14,000 families, but the real value of the enterprise resulted from the stabilizing of the price of coal and preventing the dealers from resorting to arbitrary prices which would have been possible had the competition created by the city been eliminated. The success of the enterprise is evidenced by the profit resulting to the city of $2,957.33.

"It is not my desire," said his Honor, "that the city engage in the purchase and distribution of fuel, but in the event that dealers increase the price beyond the price charged last year of $16 per ton, I shall not hesitate to request an appropriation of a half million dollars or more from the City Council for the purchase of coal to be sold at cost to the public."

In anticipation of a possible fuel shortage, during the past year every reasonable endeavor has been made to displace coal as fuel, with the result that through the substitution of oil for coal, 60,000 tons of coal has been displaced up to the present time. This displacement is equivalent to 2,000 cars, and should render available two tons each for 30,000 families.

The Schoolhouse Department is conducting a general installation wherever possible, equipment having been installed, or provision made for installation, in the following schools:

Public Latin School, Frank V. Thompson School, Practical Arts High School, Roxbury High School, Dorchester High School, Hyde Park High School, Dearborn School, Girls' High School, Franklin School, Everett School, Dudley School, Old Mather School, Washington Allston School, Hillside School, Old Agassiz School, Tyler Street School, Louis Prang School.

The substitution of oil for coal as fuel in the foregoing schools results in a saving of $12,000 in fuel alone, and of approximately $8,000 in other incidental expenses.

REPORT OF SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

Net cash received from coal and coke sales to citizens (deposits with City Collector), $49,772.45; cash from department sales, $84,626.74; total cash received to date (deposits with City Collector), $134,399.19; amount of coke purchased, 2,340.85 tons; amount of coal, 5,932 long tons; total amount of coal delivered (Medford street yard), 1,661 short tons; total amount of coal delivered (Navy Yard station), 3,418 short tons; total amount of coal delivered (Albany street yard), 1,241 short tons; total, 6,320 tons; additional screenings from three yards, 64 tons; grand total distributed, 6,384 short tons; charged to shrinkage in handling, 266 short tons.

FOR NEW L STREET BATH HOUSE.

Mayor Curley sent the following letter to the Park Commission:

MR. JAMES B. SHEA, Chairman Park Commission, Boston:

DEAR SIR,—The completion of a bath house at Columbus Park renders it advisable to consider at once the erection of a steel and concrete bath house to replace the wooden one at L street.

I am accordingly desirous that your commission make a study with a view to erecting the best equipped concrete and steel bath house in America during the year 1924. It might be advisable in connection with your study to consider the advisability, from a health standpoint, of including in connection with the new bath house at L street hot salt water indoor tank baths the year round.

When your commission has ascertained the probable cost and secured the necessary data I shall be pleased to confer with them.

Sincerely yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

LAND-TAKING IN EAST BOSTON.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of land by right of eminent domain for sewerage works, lands, rights and easements, as follows:

The right and easement is taken to lay and maintain sewerage works in the following described lands, exclusive of any interest in trees, buildings or other structures standing thereon, reserving to the owners thereof the right to use the lands for any purpose except such as may injure or obstruct said works, and except for placing or maintaining any structure on said lands not authorized in writing by the Mayor of said city; trees, buildings or other structures standing upon or affixed to the land in which an easement is hereby taken are to be removed therefrom within sixty days following a notice of the city's intention to enter upon said taking for the purpose of constructing said sewerage works. Said lands are in that part of Boston formerly East Boston and are bounded as follows:

A parcel of land, owners unknown, being part of the private way known as Coleridge street, bounded:

Southwesterly by another part of Coleridge street, eight feet; northwesterly by easement taken by the City of Boston for sewerage purposes in Coleridge street November 13, 1905, forty-two and 8-100 feet; northeasterly by another part of Coleridge street, eight feet; southeasterly by the southeasterly line of Coleridge street, forty-two and 8-100 feet; containing three hundred and thirty-seven square feet, more or less.

A parcel of land, owners unknown, being part of the private way known as Coleridge street, bounded:

Southeasterly by easement taken by the City of Boston for sewerage purposes in Coleridge street April 10, 1905, fourteen and 51-100 feet; northeasterly by easement taken by the City of Boston for sewerage purposes in Coleridge street November 13, 1905, six and 2-100 feet; northwesterly by the line of location of the Boston, Revere Beach & Lynn Railroad Company, fifteen and 71-100 feet; containing forty-four square feet, more or less.

A parcel of land, supposed to belong to the Boston, Revere Beach & Lynn Railroad Company, bounded:

Southeasterly by easement taken by the City of Boston for sewerage purposes in Coleridge street April 10, 1905, four and 49-100 feet; again southeasterly by another part of Coleridge street, fifteen and 71-100 feet; northeasterly by easement taken by the City of Boston for sewerage purposes in Coleridge street and Moore street November 13, 1905, being within the location of the Boston, Revere Beach & Lynn Railroad Company, thirty-two and 48-100 feet; northwesterly by another part of Moore street, twenty and 57-100 feet; southwesterly by another part of said line of location of the Boston, Revere Beach & Lynn Railroad Company, thirty and 62-100 feet; containing six hundred and thirteen square feet, more or less.

A parcel of land, owners unknown, being part of the private way known as Moore street, bounded:

Southeasterly by the line of location of the Boston, Revere Beach & Lynn Railroad Company, twenty and 57-100 feet; northeasterly by easement taken by the City of Boston for sewerage purposes in Moore street November 13, 1905, sixty-three and 30-100 feet; northwesterly by another part of Moore street, nineteen feet; southwesterly by the southwesterly line of Moore street, seventy-one and 18-100 feet; containing one thousand two hundred and seventy-seven square feet, more or less.

BUILDING PERMITS ISSUED JULY 19 TO JULY 25.

The sewerage works to be constructed are as follows: 90 feet of 5-foot concrete overflow, in the above described premises, being parts of the private ways known as Moore street and Coleridge street, East Boston.

No betterments are to be assessed for the making of the improvement ordered herein.

The Board determines that no person sustains damages in his estate by the taking of the aforesaid easement and construction of said sewerage works and awards no damages therefor.

LAND-TAKING IN DORCHESTER.

The Mayor has approved the request of the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of land and building No. 907 Blue Hill avenue, now or formerly owned by Domenico De Stefano, and vacant land in rear of No 907 Blue Hill avenue on Harvard street, now or formerly owned by heirs of John W. Horne, Dorchester district, for school purposes, including the trees, buildings and other structures standing upon or affixed thereto:

A parcel of land, with the building thereon, supposed to belong to Domenico De Stefano, bounded:

Easterly by Blue Hill avenue, fifty feet; southerly by land supposed to belong to Eva Tarutz, one hundred and twenty feet; westerly by land supposed to belong to heirs of John W. Horne, and hereinafter described as taken under this order, fifty feet; northerly by land of the City of Boston, formerly taken for school purposes, one hundred and twenty feet; containing six thousand square feet, more or less.

A parcel of land, supposed to belong to heirs of John W. Horne, bounded:

Easterly by land supposed to belong to Domenico De Stefano, and heretofore described as taken under this order, fifty feet; southerly by another parcel of land supposed to belong to heirs of John W. Horne, one hundred two and 57-100 feet; westerly by Harvard street, fifty and 1-100 feet; northerly by land of the City of Boston, formerly taken for school purposes, one hundred one and 83-100 feet; containing fifty-one hundred and ten square feet, more or less.

Said parcels are shown on a plan marked "City of Boston, Harvard Street, Blue Hill Avenue, Dorchester, August 10, 1921, F. O. Whitney, Chief Engineer, Street Laying-Out Department," on file in the office of said department.

Voted, That this Board determines that the undermentioned estates sustain damages by the takings made for school purposes on Blue Hill avenue and Harvard streets, Dorchester district, under the order of the Board, in the amounts hereinafter set against them, and awards said amounts therefor.

LAND-TAKING IN DORCHESTER.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of land by right of eminent domain for sewerage works, lands, rights and easements, as follows:

The right and easement is taken to lay and maintain sewerage works in the following described lands, exclusive of any interest in trees, buildings or other structures standing thereon, reserving to the owners thereof the right to use the lands for any purpose except such as may injure or obstruct said works, and except for placing or maintaining any structure on said lands not authorized in writing by the Mayor of said city; trees, buildings or other structures standing upon or affixed to the land in which an easement is hereby taken are to be removed therefrom within sixty days following a notice of the city's intention to enter upon said taking for the purpose of constructing said sewerage works. Said lands are in that part of Boston formerly Dorchester and are bounded as follows:

A parcel of land, owners unknown, being part of the private way known as Bates road, bounded:

Northerly by Elm road, six feet; easterly by another part of Bates road, four hundred nine and 29-100 feet; southerly by Beaumont street, six feet; westerly by another part of Bates road, four hundred nine and 24-100 feet; containing two thousand four hundred and fifty-six square feet, more or less.

The sewerage works to be constructed are as follows: 410 linear feet of 12-inch pipe sanitary sewer, in the above-described premises, being part of the private way known as Bates road, between Beaumont street and Elm road, Dorchester.

Betterments are to be assessed for the making of the improvement ordered herein.

This Board determines that no person sustains damages in his estate by the taking of the aforesaid easement and construction of said sewerage works, and awards no damages therefor.

Ordered, That this Board estimates that the lots of abutting land on both sides of Bates road, between Beaumont street and Elm road, with the exception of lot 5, City of Boston, and lot 13, Ethel P. Welch, will receive benefit or advantage, other than the general advantage to the community, from the improvement ordered herein, each of the particular lots to the amount respectively set against it herein; said lots and the supposed owners thereof being shown on a plan marked "City of Boston, Plan No. 519, Sewerage Works, Bates Road, Dorchester, June 14, 1923, F. O. Whitney, Chief Engineer, Street Laying-Out Department," and on file in the office of said department.

APPRENTICESHIP IN TRADES.

Mayor Curley has received the following communication from William Stanley Parker, president of the Commission on Apprenticeship for the Building Industry:

DEAR MR. MAYOR.—I have your letter of July 16 with its inclosed report on apprentice training in the building trades from the School Committee. I assume you have sent this in my capacity as president of the Apprenticeship Commission recently organized, the personnel of which is indicated on this letterhead.

We have been in touch with Assistant Superintendent Brodhead in charge of vocational training, and have received the most cordial offers of co-operation. A definite system for apprentices in the various trades has been laid out, and is now under detailed and active consideration by a considerable number of the important trades, and we hope to have definite agreement upon details in the next few weeks, and will take up with the School Committee the details of the related schooling required for each of the trades, and lay out with them the necessary courses, and confer with them in regard to the qualifications required for the various instructors that would be needed for these courses. These courses will for the present be all in the regular evening school periods, and the best location for the courses will be a subject for later consideration.

The Apprenticeship Commission will be glad to be of assistance to the School Committee in any way that it can in connection with the construction of the new wing for the Trade School or any other matters related to this important subject of apprenticeship training. You will notice that the commission is representative of practically all the elements in the building industry, and the work of the commission has the cordial official approval of the three appointing bodies, and will, I am sure, receive a steadily growing support by the labor and contracting groups in the industry.

I will be glad to send a copy of this letter to the chairman of the School Committee, if you deem it wise, and arrange for a personal conference with him if he so desires. I return herewith Mr. Lane's letter for your files.

Very truly yours,

WILLIAM STANLEY PARKER,
President.

MEMBERS OF THE COMMISSION.

Representing the Building Trades Employers' Association.—Heywood S. French, William H. Oakes, Joseph N. Willcutt.

PARK SHOWS FOR AUGUST.

Mayor Curley received the following communication from E. B. Mero, director of the Boston Conservation Bureau.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

MY DEAR MR. MAYOR.—Attached is the schedule which we have arranged for "Boston Park Shows" during the month of August.

We propose a series of four Sunday evening meetings on Boston Common each of the four Sunday evenings in August. The programs would be of the same nature as in the district shows but for the special purpose of bringing before the people likely to assemble on the Common, the educational, civic and social resources of the city by pictures, songs and talks.

You will be interested to know that the attendance at the ten park shows so far conducted in various sections of the city has proved more successful than any previous year, both as to attendance and apparent interest on the part of a large majority of each audience. The audience has averaged 3,500 a night, with a total to date of 35,200.

The city of Cambridge through the approval of Mayor Quinn and under the direction of the Cambridge Park and Recreation Department will conduct a series of park shows in that city once a week during the month of August. This Bureau is assisting Cambridge to get the plan in operation with the benefit of our long experience, which incidentally is an evidence of practical co-operation between municipalities.

Yours truly,

E. B. MERO,
Director.

MAYOR PROMISES NEW SIDEWALKS.

The following women appeared in favor of granolithic sidewalks on West Concord street at a conference with Mayor Curley Tuesday and to which the Mayor and Commissioner of Public Works Rourke assented: Mrs. Julia A. Nephin, 140 West Concord street, Miss Jennie Kinsney, 153 West Concord street, Mrs. Peter Nephin, 139 West Concord street, and Mrs. Mary Dolan, 149 West Concord street. Their requests for granolithic sidewalks in their section were granted.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

PROPOSALS TO COMPLETE STREET ASPHALT, BITUMINUS AND RECUR GRANITE BLOCK PAVEMENT IN MARIE STREET, FROM MT. IDA ROAD TO PERCIVAL STREET, DORCHESTER; TILTON STREET, FROM FELLOWS STREET NORTH-WESTWARD. (See Program).

The Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston, office 508 City Hall Annex, invites proposals from citizens of the United States and corporations on other legal communities wherein the controlling interest to the extent of one half thereof is owned by a citizen or citizens of the United States, to complete street asphalt, bituminus and recur granite block pavement in Marie street, from Mt. Ida road to Percival street, Dorchester; Tilton street, from Fellows street northwesterly city proper. A bond will be required for doing the work of a competent contractor, approved by the Commissioner in the sum of nine hundred (900) dollars, to secure the due performance of the contract and the full protection of the city. Forms of proposals may be obtained at Room 508, City Hall Annex. Each proposal should be inclosed in an envelope, sealed and marked "Proposal for Complete Street Asphalt, Bituminus and Recur Granite Block Pavement in Marie Street, etc.", and left at Room 508, City Hall Annex, before 12 m. f. Monday, August 6, 1923, with a certified check for three hundred (300) dollars, payable to and to become the property of the city if the proposal after acceptance is not carried out. The proposals will then and there be publicly opened and read. Proposals must be made in duplicate, the sealed duplicate, without check, to be deposited by the bidder with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening the bids. If the price of any item appears to the Commissioner to be abnormally high or low, or the bidder neglects to bid on each and every item, it may lead to the rejection of the proposal containing such price. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any or all proposals or to award the contract as he deems best.

JOSEPH A. ROUCHE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

BOSTON CITY RECORD

OFFICIAL CHRONICLE OF MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

VOL. 15.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 4, 1923.

No. 31

HYDE PARK SOON TO HAVE NEW WELL APPOINTED POLICE STATION.

PLANS FOR $200,000 STRUCTURE NOW READY AND BIDS FOR WORK TO BE CALLED FOR. WILL BE COMPLETED IN YEAR WHEN BUILDING IS BEGUN. WILL BE ON HYDE PARK AVENUE.

NEW $200,000 POLICE STATION, WORK ON WHICH WILL BE BEGUN SOON — PLANS BEING COMPLETED.

Hyde Park is soon to boast of a police station second to none in the city and the equal in appointments and conveniences of any in the United States. This is another of the municipal improvements being undertaken by Mayor Curley to make Boston better. The new station is to cost over $200,000 and will be completed in about a year. Plans are being prepared by Maginnis & Walsh, architects, and will soon be ready for building.

This building, which has a frontage of 140 feet on Hyde Park avenue, and is 79 feet deep, is to be of fireproof construction throughout, and two stories high; with flat roof. The material to be used for the exterior walls will be red water-struck brick laid in English bond, with trimming of Indiana limestone, the main entrance steps being of granite. The building will have accommodations for thirty-five officers and men.

On the first floor is a well proportioned guard room 32 feet wide and 55 feet long, adjoining which is a large locker room for the patrolmen. The men's cell room, containing twelve cells, is located on this floor. There are also four cells for women, with matron's room. The main office and lobby, with distribution and service room leading from the office, as well as the captain's office and bedroom with toilet, are conveniently located near the main entrance.

In the basement is located the boiler room, chauffeur's room, garage, doctor's room, toilet room, and a large recreation room 32 feet wide and 54 feet long. The contour of the ground is such that at the rear part of the building the garage, chauffeur's room and recreation room can be entered from grade.

The second floor contains fourteen double bedrooms, and five single rooms for officers, with large toilet rooms, linen and blanket closets.

MAYOR WINS HYDE PARK 10-CENT FARE FIGHT.

A single 10-cent fare between Hyde Park and any part of the Boston Elevated system has become assured through the efforts of Mayor Curley, for the trustees of the Elevated have voted to accept a lease of the line of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company, from Forest Hills to Cleary square.

The first step necessary for the execution of the plan is the purchase of the Eastern Massachusetts lines and property in Hyde Park by the City of Boston.

The purchase will be made at once by the Transit Department, representing the city, and as soon as time-tables can be prepared, three-minute service between Forest Hills and Cleary square will be inaugurated, with a 10-cent fare to any part of Boston served by the Elevated.

This culmination of the fight for a single fare for Hyde Park residents, which has been in progress for twenty years, resulted from a series of conferences between Mayor Curley and the public trustees of the Elevated, which have been conducted since the Legislature passed the Mayor's bill providing for the purchase by the city of the Eastern Massachusetts property in Hyde Park, and a lease of a portion of it at a yearly rental equal to 4 1/2 per cent of the valuation of the property, exclusive of the power plant, as determined by the state department of public utilities.

On account of the worn-out condition of the rails on East River street and on Hyde Park avenue, between Cleary square and Readville, the latest type of motor buses will be put in operation between Mattapan square and Wolcott square, Readville.

Under this plan, passengers arriving at Cleary square may transfer to buses going to Readville, without any additional fare. Passengers arriving at Mattapan may transfer to buses at that point operating over East River street through Cleary square to Readville. Passengers from Readville have the option of transferring at Cleary square, without additional charge, to the city proper, by way of Hyde Park avenue and Forest Hills, or may continue on buses to Mattapan and transfer at that point to any part of the system, by way of Blue Hill avenue to Ashland street.

TO STOP SPECTACLE ISLAND NUISANCE.

Coleman Brothers, who hold a ten-year contract signed in the preceding administration, were called to City Hall and given notice that, if they do not take steps to abate the Spectacle Island nuisance immediately, the city will install devices and call upon the contractor to pay the bill.

For two hours Health Commissioner Francis X. Mahoney and Public Works Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke were closeted with representatives of the corporation. They made it plain that Mayor Curley had approved the contemplated step by the city if the same conditions continue.

The contract for the disposal of the city's garbage has nine years to run. Mayor Curley characterizes it as a "wonderfully one-sided contract," with $3,800,000 involved. The contractors had been twice warned that they must abate or completely eliminate the odors, and the answer has been that they have spent $100,000 in restoring a run-down plant, were losing money every day and could not afford to spend any more money on improvements at present.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean,
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

PAYS STIRRING TRIBUTE TO COMRADESHIP OF WIFEHOOD AND MOTHERHOOD OF WORLD.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY, MAYOR OF BOSTON AND PRESIDENT OF MAYORS' CLUB OF MASSACHUSETTS, DELIVERS BRILLIANT ADDRESS AT GATHERING OF MAYORS AND THEIR FAMILIES DURING OUTING AT NEWBURYPORT AS GUESTS OF MAYOR CASHMAN OF THAT CITY.

In a speech before the Mayors' Club at Newburyport Mayor James M. Curley spoke as follows:

The Mayors' Club is indebted to the enterprise of the capable and brilliant administrator who serves as chief executive of Newburyport and to his charming companion, Mrs. Cashman, for the pleasure that is ours today. It will never be a serious difficulty in any New England city or town to find an appeal that might be applicable to a gathering of this character, but when one speaks as frequently as I have to the members of the Mayors' Club it is rather difficult to avoid becoming threadbare or indulging in repetition.

Coming from Newburyport to this delightful summer resort, that according to its very ambitious promoters will one day rival Atlantic City, I passed by one of the public parks. In that public park there is a monument, constructed in enduring bronze and granite, bearing the names of the men of Newburyport who made the supreme sacrifice that this nation might continue a nation, under America's greatest leader, perhaps of all times, Abraham Lincoln. It is an interesting monument to me, a stranger in Newburyport; but the thing which made me a particular appeal to me might not, perhaps, appeal to those unacquainted with the names that appear on the monument—the veterans, the relatives, or the friends. To them the names would make a more powerful and more personal appeal; but the one word written across the base of that monument would convey more to the stranger within your gates than the roster of the dead and the story of their sacrifice.

At the base of the Newburyport monument was the single word "Comrade." How much that word means in the life of the American nation! How much in the life of the American people, not only today, but tomorrow, always. Has it not come to pass, after all, in our present-day civilization, in the hurly-burly hurry and struggle for existence and livelihood, that the spirit of comradeship has gradually been disappearing from the life of the American people? It was the spirit of comradeship, the spirit of courage, the spirit of self-reliance, that fermented the spirit of interdependence between the people who came here in 1620 and those who came here later, that made possible this American nation. It was the spirit of comradeship that held steadfast in the bonds of brotherhood the men who fought under Washington from 1775 to 1783. It was the spirit of comradeship bred on the long weary march, bred in the camp and bred in the sweat and struggle of the battlefield that made possible the greatest patriotic organization in the world, the Grand Army of the Republic.

There are many persons who labor under the impression that we have acquired little of value as a consequence of the World War. I cannot subscribe to that thought when I consider that ten millions of Americans answered the call of the country, that six millions were enrolled under the flag and that four million saw service in the field. We realize of course that there are differences today; but they are not based on a desire for any class organization, a desire for political control, a desire for some remote principle, but they do visualize the hope and wish that some day we will be a unit in the resolution to serve and be of service to the best nation and the best flag the world has ever known, the American nation and the American flag.

I have never seen the spirit of comradeship better exemplified or more sincerely expressed than in this particular assembly today.

Men when elected to public office sometimes labor under the impression that their elevation is due to their own God-given attributes, and it is a rare occasion when some one gives credit to his real asset, his wife, who not only may be his inspiration but the responsible factor in his progress. When we hold gatherings it has been too often the custom to exclude women; but thank God this club has never followed that custom. It recognizes the spirit of comradeship and has learned the spiritual value of the comradeship that comes from association with a good woman. Mr. Cashman exemplifies that to a most marked degree and the other men who have come here, each with his wife.

I sometimes think our mothers, wives and sisters have become so much a matter of course in our lives, their fidelity and constancy so much a commonplace in our careers, that we never realize the great part they play in our progress, the driving force they are in our struggles, the compelling influence in our experience, until death or disaster deprives us of them. The mother makes the man; the wife guides and sustains him; the sister brings him sympathy and applause; the daughter gives him the love and honor the heart craves.

In every hour and every phase of the normal man's life some good woman waits in the shadow of his achievement to applaud him in victory, to heal the wound of defeat, to inspire to his honorable ambition and to find in his triumphs her reward; and in all the crucial moments, all the hazards of fortune, she stands by his side, loyal, faithful to the last. How apt man is to forget and ignore the inestimable value in his life of the mother who bore him and the wife who, forsaking all else, has made his God her God, his home her home, and made him and the children she has borne him the center and the glory of her life.

What better comrade can man have than his wife? Who has entered more sincerely and loyally into the heart of his being and his activities than she? As we honor, trust, confide in and protect her, so shall the struggles we overcome and the prizes we grasp be deemed worthy by the world we work in. The mothers of the race! the mothers of our children! With them no height is too dizzy to scale; without them no abyss is too deep to engulf us.

So I say God bless and guard the wives and mothers of the world. With them we may face and solve the problems of the world, which in the future will be much as they were in the past, the incidence of human life, the struggles with nature and its obstacles, with man and his nature. Washington faced the problems of weakness and adversity, of a changing social order, of a world bitten by new ideals and ambitions, and he came forth triumphant. Lincoln's problems were those of a house divided against itself, of false ideals of law and liberty, of a people whose national unity must be preserved, whose comradeship must be restored, and with infinite patience, courage, tenacity and magnanimity he solved them with his life and sealed them with his death.

The problems of today are no less puzzling and difficult than those of the days of the making and saving of the republic, but we will solve them if we bring to them that spirit of Washington and Lincoln and the teaching and practice of a common Christian comradeship. Upon the cultivation and sustenance of that comradeship all nationhood, all American solidarity must be founded: and upon them and by them we may solve all our problems and bring into being that ideal government which has been the dream of the ages—a strong and righteous nation, a flag honored for the virtues not the victories it symbolizes; a country where action, speech, press and religion are free, where liberty is in all places, and anarchy and disorder in no place; where equality of opportunity is the law of the land, the privilege and heritage of the people, and class and caste shall be no more forever.

We need more comradeship in America, a higher and nobler comradeship that acclaims all men brethren regardless of race, creed and color; and when the spirit of that comradeship animates America the course pursued by other nations need concern us but little. Then will we be a nation of comrades, a nation where no man will rejoice in a prosperity that sees his brother in need, his neighbor in necessity.

After all, our future problems will be economic; and as they cry aloud for solution and the comrades of the Grand Army pass off this stage to their great reward, we must look to a new power, a new element to aid us in their solution,—new only in the political sense, for it has always been here women of America.

The woman of America must be reckoned with; her idealizing and spiritualizing influence has always been at work; she has ever placed the human creature above the dollar; and as she now is entering upon her political inheritance she will constitute a leaven of tremendous significance. She will bring to the spirit of Newburyport and every other American community that sense of duty and honor that will permit no barrier to stand between the child she bears and the highest possibilities of mental, spiritual and physical development, through education and training, until it reaches an age when it may safely enter the common struggle of humanity.

We have seen Nevada, Pennsylvania and Montana adopt an old age pension system, and eventually we shall have it in every state of the Union. We shall have it in Massachusetts. We shall see the specter of an old age of poverty and dependence vanish from the vision of the man and woman broken in body and spirit by the toil and incidence of industry. We are going to have a child labor law all over this land, when no little one will be deprived of its childhood and made the chattel of the greed and cruelty of the industrial exploiter.

The influence and urgency of the mother, the woman in politics, will do this, and all over this country of ours in the hearts of our people will be written that magic word I today saw graven on the Newburyport soldiers' monument—"Comrade."

Estimated cost of omitted work, $2,778; estimated cost of substituted work, $10,936; estimated increase in cost, $8,158.

J. P. Dwyer Company have been directed to perform the following extra work under contract for piping and other equipment for new boilers at Calf Pasture pumping station. Items ordered: Brace 12-inch channels under feed water heater with one piece 12-inch channel bolted both sides with angles. Cross brace the four steel columns. Furnish new shaft and roller bearings and strengthen damper with three pieces strap iron 3 inches by 1/2 inch by 7 feet. Extend platform on southeast side of boilers toward rear 8 feet long by 4 feet 7 inches wide, bars 1 1/2 inches by 1/2 inch, spaced 1-1/2 inches on center. Provide an auxiliary steam supply line for feed pumps as follows:

Insert a tee in the riser to each super heater safety valve and from these tees run a 2-inch standard weight iron pipe along the rear of the boilers and around the corner to join the present auxiliary line near the feed pumps. This line will require about 100 feet of pipe and twenty-four miscellaneous extra heavy hydraulic malleable fittings. It will also require valves as follows: Five Lunkenheimer 2-inch extra heavy gate valves with bronze body, screwed O. S. Y. No. 834. One Lunkenheimer 1/2-inch extra heavy globe valve bronze body "Renewo" type No. 58. This pipe line should be covered the same as the exhaust steam lines under this contract, that is, single thickness.

All hangers and supports are to be included at an estimated cost of $675; extra work previously ordered (Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4), $1,150.

J. J. McCarthy & Co. have been directed to perform the following extra work under contract for repairing artificial stone sidewalk blocks. Items ordered: Repair approximately 5,000 square feet in addition to the amount in the contract, at $0.375 per square foot—at an estimated cost of $1,875.

B. E. Grant Company have been directed to omit and substitute the following work under contract for repaving Merchants row and South Market street. Items ordered: Re-cutting and relaying of existing granite block (Item 5d) in Merchants row and substitute the barring out, hauling blocks to Massachusetts avenue lot, recutting blocks at the lot, loading and hauling recut blocks to Merchants row and laying same with grout joints. Price to be paid the same as that bid for Item 5c., viz., $2.85 per square yard—at an estimated cost of omitted work, $6,412; estimated cost of substituted work, $8,122; estimated increase in cost, $1,710.

CLAIMS DISALLOWED.

The Law Department has disapproved sixty-eight claims against the city, aggregating $19,140.22, classified as follows:

Against the Collecting Department, two, amounting to $72.44; against the Fire Department, five, amounting to $2,000.99; against the Health Department, one, amounting to $1.25; against the Hospital Department, two, amounting to $547.50; against the Institutions Department, one, amounting to $186; against the Licensing Board, one, amounting to $5; against the Park and Recreation Department, three, amounting to $71.85; against the Police Department, three, amounting to $950; against the Public Works Department, forty-nine, amounting to $14,805.19; against the Transit Department, one, amounting to $500.

BOSTON WANTS THIRTY-ONE YOUNG MEN TO BECOME AVIATION EXPERTS.

H. PORTER ADAMS, CHAIRMAN OF THE MUNICIPAL AIR BOARD, CONFERS WITH MAYOR CURLEY ON PLANS FOR REVIVING INTEREST IN FLYING AND ADVANCING THE ART IN AMERICA.

Mayor Curley held a conference with Mr. Porter H. Adams, chairman of the Municipal Air Board relative to the appeal of the leading experts who are interested in the development of aeronautics in the United States that some steps must be taken to prevent the rapid diminishing of the splendid army of flyers which the United States produced during the war with Germany and which is principally accounted for by the fact that many of these gentlemen have returned to the routine of their daily lives.

There is evidence that the constantly thinning ranks of aeronautic experts are not being replenished by new aviators and which largely results in the lack of opportunity to fly. There appears to be plenty of aeronautic schools in the United States but the rates for instruction by competent men range from $200 to $500 and are beyond the reach of many persons who are interested in flying.

Both Mayor Curley and Chairman Adams, as the result of their conference, heartily indorse the proposal of the National Aeronautic Association of the U. S. A., 26 Jackson place, Washington, D. C., in their successful endeavor after conference with the leaders of the representative aviation schools of the United States, to provide opportunity where large numbers of men who are seventeen years of age or over will have opportunity to learn to operate all manner of aeroplanes and without cost of tuition.

It appears that, in the City of Boston according to the estimate of the census of 1920, there is officially recorded approximately 785,000 persons, and, as the National Aeronautic Association are prepared to allot one scholarship in the aviation schools for every 25,000 of the population of any American city, it would appear that Boston is entitled to thirty-one appointments.

Mayor Curley and Chairman Adams desire to especially emphasize that these scholarships under the auspices of the National Aeronautic Association are to be earned by candidates arousing public sentiment in the community in the support of national aeronautics in so far that America shall stand first in the air as compared with the other nations of the world.

Mayor Curley and Chairman Adams particularly request that young men seventeen years of age and over and who are physically fit to study courses in aviation and who can provide excellent references as to honor and character may give evidence of their desire to make study of courses in aviation. It must be distinctly understood that all candidates who are under age must secure the consent to fly of either their parents or guardians before they may have opportunity to enter into these aviation courses. Upon the receipt of the names and addresses of the candidates by either Mayor Curley or Chairman Adams they will be furnished with a questionnaire and application blank and advised as to the necessary instruction of procedure in the task which they desire to undertake. In order that the full opportunity may be offered for excellent competition in courses of aviation the National Aeronautic Association announces that a Curtiss JN-4D air plane, all prepared to fly, will be awarded to the winner of a free scholarship who makes the best campaign among the candidates who are to improve the opportunity to become aeronauts.

AUTHORITY TO DO WORK.

The Mayor has granted the request of Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department to do the following work:

To resurface with asphalt macadam Chaucer street, East Boston, from Curtis street to Moore street, with division forces, without inviting proposals, the estimated cost for labor and material being $2,100.

To resurface with asphalt macadam Moore street, East Boston, from Pope street to Saratoga street, with division forces, without inviting proposals, the estimated cost for labor and material being $2,000.

To resurface with asphalt macadam Curtis street, East Boston, from Chelsea street to Bennington street, with division forces, without inviting proposals, the estimated cost for labor and material being $2,500.

To construct dish gutters in Matta-keest street (Hyde Park), from River street to Nonpsett river reservation, with division forces, without inviting proposals, the estimated cost for labor and material being $1,200.

EXTENSION OF CONTRACTS.

INSTITUTIONS DEPARTMENT.

The Murray Engineering Company have been allowed an extension of time for completion of the contract for the installation of a steam steering gear on the steamer "Michael J. Perkins," of thirty days.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Paving Service).

V. Grande has been granted an extension of the time for completion of the contract for paving with recut granite block Melcher street, from Summer street to A street, from August 1, 1923, to August 15, 1923. The extension is requested for the reason that the contractor was delayed by underground corporation work.

B. E. Grant Company have been granted an extension of the time for completion of the contract for paving with wood blocks Charles street, from Cambridge street to Fruit street, from August 1, 1923, to September 1, 1923. This extension is requested for the reason that the contractor is waiting for wood blocks which are being shipped from Ohio.

BOSTON'S PLANNING BOARD TO MAKE MUNICIPALITY A "CITY BEAUTIFUL."

HAS SOME OF LEADING ARTISTS AND ENGINEERS AS CONSULTANTS AND EXPERTS IN SERVICE DESIGNING PLANS AND MAKING SUGGESTIONS.

Boston's Planning Board has many noted men among its consultants and workers who are developing a scheme for city development that will in a course of years make this city one of the best laid out in the world. This fact has come to light in the annual report of the Board, which was submitted to Mayor Curley this week. The entire program is soon to be announced.

The portion of the report in which is listed the names of the distinguished men aiding in planning a city beautiful is as follows:

BOSTON, July 26, 1923.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY.

Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR.—The City Planning Board submits herewith a statement of progress with regard to zoning work and street studies now being carried on under the special appropriation authorized for the preparation of a comprehensive city plan.

Mr. Nelson P. Lewis of New York, for more than thirty years chief engineer of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment of that city, and at present in charge of the physical survey of the Russell Sage Foundation plan for New York and environs, acts as general consultant for the Board. Mr. Arthur C. Comey, one of the leading experts in city planning and zoning work in this country, is in direct charge of the zoning survey.

With regard to the zoning program itself, the work has been divided into three sections—gathering of the essential data; preparation of tentative zoning scheme, and the development of zoning scheme into a final plan through extended hearings and conferences with interested persons and organizations.

The gathering of the essential data is approximately two thirds completed. Maps absolutely essential to the drawing of a preliminary zoning plan are nine tenths finished. These include:

Series of base maps of various scales; a new contour map of the city; maps showing use, height, and proportion of lot covered by every existing building; land values; distribution and trend of population in the city and in the metropolitan district; fire hazards; vacant property; street grades and widths; thoroughfares in the city and in the district, and special studies of the present building code and of the downtown high building section.

Meanwhile a tentative form for an ordinance has been drawn as a basis for discussion and a preliminary study made for the principal industrial zones. Except for certain special studies necessitated in connection with the zone plan itself, or by new considerations brought up at hearings, it appears that the essential data should be completed with the calendar year. A complete, though tentative, zoning scheme should be ready in October or November. How long a period will be consumed by conferences and hearings is problematical. The more widely these are participated in the better will be the final scheme and the more likely its adoption.

With reference to thoroughfare studies, the assessed values of land and buildings in various localities have been compiled and plotted upon maps for further study. Up to the present time nine maps have been completed, covering twenty-three studies and accompanied by a vast amount of field work, traffic counts, compilation of figures and bringing material up to date.

In addition to its general consultant and zoning director, the City Planning Board has at the present time the assistance of ten men specially qualified by education, training and experience, to carry on the work required of them. These include:

Mr. C. D. Mackintosh is a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology with an S. B. degree in architectural engineering. He has also taken special courses in landscape architecture and a special course in the Colorado State Agricultural College, besides practical experience in surveying and draughting work. He ranked as a second lieutenant in the field artillery during the war.

Mr. Bert Poole has had years of experience in perspectives and sketch work, panoramic drawings of engineering projects, architectural renderings, etc.

Mr. L. E. Oberwarth received his technical training in the University of Kentucky and the University of Cincinnati, with an evening course at the Cincinnati Art Academy. He has had over three years' practical experience in city planning work.

Mr. C. T. Grant attended the Massachusetts Institute of Technology with special courses in civil engineering, topographical draughting, mechanical draughting and stereotomy, conformed with practical experience in surveying and draughting work.

Mr. A. E. Howard is a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, with special courses in highway and railway engineering. He was for a short time in the employ of the Massachusetts State Highway Commission and has had experience as transitman and inspector on concrete construction, with general draughting and plotting work.

Mr. George C. Houser is a graduate of Butchell Academy, Akron, Ohio; of St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H.; of Harvard University, A.B., in 1920, and an S. B. in sanitary and municipal engineering in 1922. He had special courses in mechanical drawing, surveying, and designing. He has traveled in Europe, Africa, Central America and most of the large cities of the United States and was in the service of the government during the war.

Mr. J. Bush-Brown studied at the University of Pennsylvania for two years and at the Harvard School of Landscape Architecture, including the course in city planning. He has had three years' practical experience in the office of a landscape architect and several years' topographic surveying with the United States Geological Survey and the United States army engineers.

Mr. H. F. Kenney is a graduate of the University of Illinois, with degree B.S. in landscape architecture, including city planning. He has also completed the post-graduate course at Harvard University in landscape architecture and city planning and has had four years' practical experience in office and supervisory work.

Mr. C. W. Banks is a graduate of the New York University, with degree of B. S. in civil engineering in 1906, and degree C.E. in 1907. He has had ten years' practical experience with the New York City Board of Water Supply in construction on the Catskill Aqueduct, one and one half years as a teacher in Delaware College, and for the last six years an instructor in the Applied Science Department at Wentworth Institute, Boston.

Mr. R. B. Cheney is a graduate of Lowell Institute, with special marine engineering course at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He has had three years' practical experience in draughting and designing, two years in marine engineering, and was for four years instructor at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Respectfully yours,

E. M. HERLIHY,
Secretary.

TO ENTERTAIN NOTED FRENCH GENERAL.

Governor Channing H. Cox, Mayor James M. Curley, Col. Hugh W. Ogden and the committee on reception to Gen. Henri J. Gouraud have completed the official program for the reception to the "Lion of the Argonne," General Gouraud, who has recently been appointed military governor of Paris, the highest military honor that the French Republic can bestow upon an officer in the French army.

General Gouraud will arrive in Boston, accompanied by a staff of four French officers and five American military officers, upon Wednesday, August 8, at 7.50 a. m., and will be met upon his arrival at the South Station by a committee consisting of Gen. Andrew W. Brewster, U. S. A., commanding First Corps Area; the French Vice Consul, Charles F. Flammand; Col. Hugh W. Ogden, Lieutenant-Governor Fuller and Standish Wilcox.

General Gouraud and his party, together with members of the reception committee, escorted by the Fifth Infantry Band, will proceed to the Algonquin Club as breakfast guests of Col. Hugh W. Ogden.

At 10 a. m., Wednesday, August 8, official calls will be made upon Governor Cox at the State House, Mayor Curley at City Hall, Gen. Andrew W. Brewster at the department headquarters of the First Corps area and Admiral Desbœuf at the Boston Navy Yard.

An invitation is extended by Mayor Curley to all former members of the Rainbow Division to greet the distinguished guest at City Hall upon Wednesday, August 8, at 10.30 a. m.

Miss Grace Nichols of 107 Chestnut street, Boston, who saw service with the Rainbow Division in the World War, will tender a reception to the general at her home at 4 p. m.

Mayor Curley, in behalf of the City of Boston, will tender a dinner to General Gouraud and staff, the committee of escort, reception committee, and invited guests representing military organizations, at the Copley-Plaza Hotel at 7 p. m.

Upon Thursday, August 9, General Gouraud as guest of Colonel Ogden will visit Harvard University and later proceed to Camp Devens, where a review of the military forces will be conducted by Gen. Andrew W. Brewster and General Malvern H. Barnum, commander of Camp Devens.

At the conclusion of the military exercises at Camp Devens, General Gouraud will immediately leave for New York City.

CONTRACT AMENDED.

The Art Metal Construction Company have been allowed to amend their contract for furnishing furniture equipment in the office of the clerk of the Superior Court, Civil Session, Courthouse, Pemberton square, by changing the date of completion as appears on page 13 of the contract to read "August 1, 1923," instead of "two months after signing of contract."

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 346.

A trial board consisting of Captains Grant, Hickey and Skillings having heard by reference a complaint against Patrolman Francis L. Cotter of Division 6, charging him with neglect of duty, has reported to the commissioner a finding of guilty. In accordance with which it is hereby ordered that the said Patrolman Francis L. Cotter perform forty-two hours' punishment duty.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 347.

My attention has again been called, this time by the commanding officer of Police Division 17, to the excellent use that our officers are making of the Schaefer or prone method of resuscitation. In the forenoon of June 4, 1923, while Patrolman Michael J. O'Dowd of Division 17 was patrolling his route in the vicinity of South and Roberts streets, Rosindale, his attention was called to a man who had been overcome by sewer gas while at work splicing telephone cables at that point. Patrolman O'Dowd immediately applied the Schaefer or prone method to him, with such success that by the time a physician arrived the man had recovered consciousness, and the doctor said that the officer's prompt action had undoubtedly saved the man's life.

I am very much gratified to learn of this excellent police work on the part of Patrolman O'Dowd, and I heartily commend him for his speed and efficiency which enabled him to save the life of a fellow citizen.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Commissioner.

CONSERVATION BUREAU TO CONDUCT SUNDAY NIGHT CIVIC MEETINGS ON THE COMMON.

Supplementing the open-air park shows being given by the City Conservation Bureau several evenings a week during the summer in various sections of Boston, there will be a series of Sunday evening programs of similar character on Boston Common each Sunday evening during the month of August, starting August 5 at 8.30 o'clock.

The Bureau proposes to present programs which shall be in keeping with the day, of the same general character as the week day neighborhood programs, but especially to bring before the people assembled on the Common the educational, civic and social resources of the city. This will be done by means of motion pictures, mass singing and silent talks on the screen. Each program will end with a patriotic feature.

On account of the rapidly developing foliage at the Parkman Bandstand it is not feasible to hold such gatherings at this place this season as in previous summers. The leaves on the trees prevent the people in the seats from seeing the words and pictures on the screen. Therefore a section of the Common adjacent to the bandstand inclosure will be utilized for these Sunday evening gatherings.

The regular neighborhood park shows have proved to be more popular this summer than in any of the eight years this form of service has been going on in Boston's parks and playgrounds under private or municipal auspices. This is shown both by the increased attendance of men, women and children and the interest shown by them. From June 26 to the end of July the total attendance was nearly 50,000, with an average of 3,500 a night. Of this number approximately one third were children.

The mass singing of old familiar songs is a feature of every program, with song leader and instrumental music. Cornet and amplified mechanical music is used. Popular songs of the day are also sung, as well as songs about our own City of Boston.

One of the "silent talks" in the local shows relates to the problem of keeping our city streets, alleys, backyards and gutters clean and productive of healthy conditions. One slide bears a slogan personally approved by Mayor Curley: "A Clean City is a Healthy City." One of the pictures in this set of slides shows the conditions in the parks due to careless people leaving old newspapers on the grass after a band concert, on a hot Sunday afternoon, or after one of the park shows, with a statement that this particular form of carelessness or negligence costs the City of Boston $25,000 a year, mostly an unnecessary expenditure. This "silent talk" was prepared by the Bureau with the co-operation of Health Commissioner Mahoney.

Boy Scouts have been taking part in the local shows the past month as messengers, to aid the detail of police on duty at each place by co-operation of the Police Department, and especially to conduct the closing ceremony of honors to the flags of nation and city which ends each Boston park show, including the pledge of allegiance which each individual present is asked to repeat in unison.

The idea of the Boston park shows is beginning to spread to other towns and cities. The city of Cambridge, through the approval of Mayor Quinn and under the direction of the newly created Recreation Division of the Park Department of that city, has inaugurated a series of once-a-week park shows, starting July 30 and to continue through August, modeled on those of Boston, and with the help and advice of the Boston Conservation Bureau. This is an example of practical co-operation between adjoining municipalities. Two other communities are considering doing the same thing.

The Boston park shows during the month of August will be conducted according to the following schedule: Each show starts at 8.15 o'clock, or as soon thereafter as light conditions will allow, weather permitting. So far this season only one show has had to be postponed on account of rain, and that was because the ground was several inches deep with water and the lightning struck the electric cable. In one instance, at Jamaica Plain boat landing, it rained but the 1,200 people who had assembled for the show declined to consent to a postponement, so the program was carried on regardless of weather.

SOUTHERN MAYOR PRAISES BOSTON.

Richard F. Watson, mayor-elect of Greenville, S. C., visited City Hall and spoke unequivocally in praise of Bostonians, both as he found them during his visit North, and as he knows them as residents of his home city, which several Boston men have adopted as a place of abode.

The friendliness of the people in Boston, he said, was charming, and he departed with the intention of bringing his family here next summer.

BOSTON UNDER MAYOR ELIOT

Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard University, was unable to accept Mayor Curley's invitation to view his father's picture at City Hall, last Monday, because of absence at his summer home in Maine. Samuel A. Eliot was Mayor of Boston for three years, 1837, 1838 and 1839. His son writes Mayor Curley as follows:

DEAR MR. CURLEY,—I regret very much that absence from Cambridge must prevent me from accepting your invitation to view the radiotype photographs of former mayors at your office on Monday, July 30. On my return from Mt. Desert to Cambridge next October, I shall venture to inquire where this collection can then be seen.

When my father was mayor of Boston it was a small city, but one inclined to turbulence, not to say riot. It was he who established the first paid fire department in the country, because the volunteer companies made drinking places of the fire houses. He also had to deal with a violent attack of Americans on the recently arrived Irish, which attack began when a fire company returning from a fire broke through an Irish funeral on Broad street. My father had agreed with the militia of Boston that, on a given signal from the bells of the city, they should assemble at Faneuil Hall. He was called out of an afternoon service at King's Chapel (head of School street) to head the militia gathered in Faneuil Hall on their movement into Broad street; and when he reached the fighting throng there he read the riot act from a barrel close to the riotous crowd.

The Boston of that day was much more troublesome for the mayor than it is now, in spite of its great increase in size and the multiplicity of the alien races which now inhabit it.

Sincerely yours,

CHARLES W. ELIOT.

JAPANESE MAYOR STUDIES GOVERNMENT OF BOSTON.

Hon. K. Imamura, Deputy Mayor of the City of Kyoto, Japan, who is making an intensive study of the administration of municipal government in the metropolitan cities of the United States reached Boston upon the 1st instant and immediately called at the office of Mayor Curley. Mayor Curley is an old friend of Mayor Imamura, whose first mission in Boston was to determine the entire character of the laws regulating the government of Boston Harbor, the reservations made for anchorage and the regulations providing for the entry of domestic and foreign ships.

Capt. Ross A. Perry of Police Station No. 8, harbor master, devoted an hour to explaining the maritime laws and regulations to the distinguished Japanese visitor.

Later Deputy Mayor Imamura held a conference with Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Department of Public Works relative to questions of sewer, water service and sanitation; with Building Commissioner John H. Mahony, relative to the present code of building laws in Boston; with the office of Superintendent Michael H. Crowley of the Police Department, relative to police regulations in Boston; with Miss Elisabeth M. Herlihy, secretary of the City Planning Board, relative to the question of traffic congestion and the zoning of municipalities; with John H. L. Noyes, chairman of the Street Laying-Out Department, relative to street regulations and the movement of traffic; with Budget Commissioner Charles J. Fox, relative to the scope and function of the Budget Commissioner and the preparation and acceptance of the annual municipal budget of Boston; and with Chairman E. T. Kelly of the Board of Assessors, relative to the assessed valuation, both real and personal, of the City of Boston.

At the conclusion of these conferences, Mayor Imamura enjoyed a motor drive through the park system of Boston and was tendered an informal dinner by Mayor Curley at the Copley-Plaza. In the evening Deputy Mayor Imamura and Mr. Giecho Nakamura, his companion, were the guests of Robert C. Larsen, local director of the B. E. Keith Theatre.

Deputy Mayor Imamura left Boston upon the 2d instant for New York where he will meet Hon. John F. Hylan, and Mr. John F. Sinnott, private secretary, and make careful study of the municipal activities of New York City.

The Japanese visitor is one of the leading economic students of Japan and thoroughly versed in municipal government and will upon departure from New York, make further study in Philadelphia, Baltimore, Chicago, St. Louis, Denver and San Francisco. He declared the hospitality of the City of Boston was the finest in the United States.

During the dinner Mayor Imamura met Harry H. Frazee, retiring president of the Boston Red Sox, who is shortly to make an extended tour of Japan, and invited Mr. Frazee and his party of friends to be his personal guests during their stay in Kyoto.

ALL BOSTON MOURNS, BOWED IN GRIEF AT PASSING OF PRESIDENT HARDING.

MAYOR CURLEY AND DELEGATION FROM CITY COUNCIL AT SERVICES IN WASHINGTON AFTER ORATION AND RESOLUTIONS IN SPECIAL SESSION OF CITY GOVERNMENT. ALL ACTIVITIES STILLED.

CITY HALL DRAPED IN DEEP MOURNING BY ORDER OF MAYOR CURLEY AS TRIBUTE TO DEAD PRESIDENT HARDING.

On Friday all Boston joined with the remainder of the nation in mourning the passing of President Warren Gamaliel Harding, twenty-ninth president of the United States. No other news ever so shocked the nation as did the death of the chief executive of the land when the item was first flashed across the country after all had been led to believe that he was on the road to recovery from his serious illness. The nation was astounded. Boston was stunned into silence.

Mayor James M. Curley, ever keen to human suffering, knowing from the shock the news brought to him, what Mrs. Harding must be suffering, immediately sent messages of condolence to the widow, ordered the city to enter into a period of mourning and made ready for the city to be represented at the services in Washington.

The City Council was called into special session on Saturday when the Mayor delivered an oration on the death of the President and the City Council passed resolutions, a copy of which was sent to Mrs. Harding. The Mayor then ordered that all activities by the city cease on Friday.

Accordingly on Friday the entire city bowed its head with the rest of the nation and prayed for the departed head of the nation. All playground and park activities ceased; all work was halted while everyone, of whatever nationality or creed, wended their way to the church of their faith there to offer a prayer for the dead and the grief stricken.

At the meeting of the Council, the Mayor delivered the following oration:

The unexpected end of a life that typified faith in God and faith in his fellow man, a life symbolic of service and sacrifice, at the very hour that the nation was cheered and comforted with assurance of restoration to health, comes as a shock to the entire people.

To the problem of reconstruction made necessary by the World War he gave whole-hearted service in a study of such solution as might be most beneficial to the people of the world but in rendering this service he at all times furnished an inspiring example of his fealty and devotion to his own country, America.

He never subordinated Americanism to internationalism nor ever permitted the ploys of a vague humanitarianism or the appeals of a grandiose philanthropy to endanger the security of his country or commit his government to dubious adventure.

To a world rife with hatred, suspicion and pessimism he contributed candor, courage and optimism that strengthened the faith of the American people and inspired hope in the children of warring European nations. To his bereaved widow, whose illness afflicted him so greatly and whose fortitude in her hour of trial merits the sympathy and admiration of the entire people, he leaves a memory such as few men are privileged to win.

A memory of having lived 365 days of each year true to his God, to his fellow man and to the nation which he served and in whose service he died.

He was genuinely human and loved the American people; he wanted them to know him that they might love him. His every thought and act was for their well-being and in his death they mourn the loss of a sincere friend, a lover of liberty and truly great American.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-
teeming plain of the ocean,
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam
with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY THE CITY COUNCIL ON THE DEATH OF PRESIDENT HARDING.

The City Council of the City of Boston having learned of the untimely death of the honored and beloved chief magistrate of the United States, President Warren G. Harding, it is hereby, in meeting assembled,

Resolved, That we record our sense of the great loss sustained by our common country through the death which has brought to a close the career of the President of the United States;

Resolved, That we share whole-heartedly in the national grief which the death of our great leader has produced; his splendid attributes of heart and mind, his devotion to duty and his genuine Americanism earned for him the sincere love and admiration of the entire American people;

Resolved, That the sincere sympathy of the people of Boston be conveyed through the action of its duly accredited, official, public, lawmaking body, the Boston City Council, to the widow of our dead President and to his father and family.

MAYOR SUMMONS CITY COUNCIL.

To the City Council:

GENTLEMEN,—The President of the republic, Hon. Warren G. Harding, having departed this life August 2, 1923, it is fitting and proper that suitable memorial exercises be held to commemorate a life of service and sacrifice.

You are accordingly requested to assemble at the Council Chamber, City Hall, Saturday, August 4, 1923, at 1 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of paying tribute to the memory of America's honored dead leader, whose life has been an inspiration and whose untimely death is a world calamity.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

An invitation was extended to Hon. William E. Dever, Mayor of Chicago, to attend the memorial exercises. He is now visiting in Boston.

MESSAGE TO MRS. HARDING.

Mayor Curley sent the following telegram to Mrs. Warren G. Harding:

DEAR MRS. HARDING,—The City of Boston extends sincere sympathy in your great bereavement in the loss of your husband whose service as President merited the respect of the entire people of America.

JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

ORDERS DEPARTMENTS CLOSED.

Mayor Curley issued the following order to department heads:

GENTLEMEN,—The occasion of the burial of President Warren G. Harding has been designated as a day of grief and prayer throughout the United States.

It is fitting that Boston, the birthplace of human liberty, should participate in this sacred and solemn observance.

It is accordingly hereby ordered that the City Hall and other city buildings and the county departments, except where otherwise provided by law, be closed on Friday, August 10, 1923, and you are directed to grant leave of absence without loss of pay to all municipal employees whose services can be dispensed with.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

WELSH ANTHRACITE COAL PURCHASE URGED TO SAVE WINTER'S SUFFERING.

FRANK P. ROCK OF THE SUPPLY DEPARTMENT REPORTS TO MAYOR CURLEY HIS FINDING ON COAL SITUATION AT MINES AFTER INVESTIGATION AND ATTEMPT TO SECURE EMERGENCY FUEL.

Mayor Curley received the following report from Superintendent of Supplies Frank P. Rock, Monday:

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—I beg to submit herewith report of my trip to Pennsylvania and New York City to secure anthracite coal for the various city departments, also for the general public of Boston.

I have interviewed officials of the various companies known as company coal producers who control 94 per cent of the production of anthracite coal in America. I was informed by them that the schedule of distribution of the anthracite coal produced by them during the coal year, which commences April 1 and ends March 31 of the following year, is so arranged that at no time during the coal year do they have any free coal for sale. I was also informed by them that the various dealers in Greater Boston were receiving their full quota of anthracite coal based on their 1921 tonnage, which was the last normal coal year. This statement is borne out by the figures received by me from the Fuel Administrator of Massachusetts, Mr. Hultman, a copy of which I am attaching with this report.

I also interviewed the so-called independent coal operators in Philadelphia and New York, but was unsuccessful in securing an option on the large amount of anthracite coal needed for Boston.

The prices charged by the various company coal operators ranged from $8.05 to $8.50 per gross ton at the mines, while independent operators are securing prices ranging from $9 to $14 per gross ton at the mines. These prices are now being paid by the various retail dealers in and around Boston.

I received several offers of coal in five and ten car lots at prices ranging from $11 to $14 per ton (gross) at the mines. This coal was not subject to any analysis and was to be sold subject to acceptance, loaded on cars at the mines.

I found that regarding a coal strike being called September 1, the opinion was evenly divided for and against a strike taking place.

I would respectfully suggest that your Honor request the various coal dealers in Boston to restrict the deliveries of coal to the consumer to two tons during the month of August, which would prevent the hoarding of coal by individuals and also insure a more equitable distribution amongst consumers.

I would also recommend, if it is possible, for your Honor to call a meeting of the Mayors' Club of New England to consider a possible fuel shortage so that plans may be made to purchase 200,000 tons of Welsh anthracite coal at a price that would enable the various municipalities of New England to sell this coal direct to the public at a price lower than that now being charged at retail for American anthracite coal. Welsh anthracite coal is superior in heating qualities to American anthracite coal and can be purchased alongside any Atlantic seaport at a more attractive price than that charged for American anthracite coal.

Through the purchase of this amount of Welsh anthracite coal, Boston and the various municipalities of New England would be protected against any possible fuel shortage.

Respectfully yours,
FRANK P. ROCK,
Superintendent of Supplies.

FIREMEN ALSO MOURN.

Fire Commissioner Theodore A. Glynn issued orders governing the participation of Boston firemen in the day of mourning program.

The fire alarm office sounded the gongs in the department houses at intervals of thirty seconds for a period of one half hour from 5 p. m. to 5.30 p. m.

All employees at headquarters, of the Bureau of Supplies and Repairs, Fire Alarm Branch, Fire Prevention Bureau, Wire Division and Veterinary Hospital whose services could be dispensed with were excused from duty.

At 5 p. m. members of the department were assembled in full uniform and in roll call formation on the main floor of their respective fire stations by the commanding officers, where they stood at silent attention for two minutes. Members absent from quarters on that day for purposes other than fire duty were requested to cease activities for the same period of time and observe silence.

All musical instruments in department houses were silent during the day.

TO RAZE BUILDINGS.

The Mayor has granted the request of the Building Commissioner to raze buildings as follows:

To take down building located at 541 Hanover street, Old Chelsea Ferry building, Ward 6. The owner, Edward H. Lovell of Chelsea, has been served with a notice but neglects to remove the cause of complaint. The building is in such a condition as to constitute a fire menace and a nuisance.

To take down building located at rear of 150 London street, Ward 2. The owner, Mary F. Lee of 29 Border street, East Boston, has been served with a notice but neglects to remove the cause of complaint. The building is in such a condition as to constitute a fire menace and a nuisance.

CLAIMS.

The Mayor has approved, with the indorsement of the Corporation Counsel, the following claims:

Margaret Benson, 549 Sumner street, East Boston, in the sum of $52, as compensation for clothing lost or stolen at the City Hospital, February or March, 1923.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Artificial Stone Sidewalks).

Upon August 2 the Mayor approved a contract with Frank J. Gallagher & Co. for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks. A communication from Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke, of the Public Works Department, was as follows:

Boston, August 1, 1923.

To the Mayor of Boston:

Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to Frank J. Gallagher & Co., 580 Huron avenue, Cambridge, is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance but by the abutters; and secondly, the expense of construction being divided by the city and abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,

JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

LABOR ACTIVITIES.

Business at the Public Employment Office fell off a little during July from that of the previous month, but shows an improvement over July a year ago.

The records for July show 1,498 persons called for by employers, a decrease of 122, or 8 per cent from June and an increase of 115, or 8 per cent over July last year.

The number of positions reported filled was 1,011, a decrease of 315, or 24 per cent from June but an increase of 75, or 8 per cent over July a year ago.

The attendance of applicants for employment was 20,959, an increase of 2,748, or 16 per cent over June and an increase of 5,378, or 24 per cent over July last year. The attendance of service men looking for employment was 961 (636 soldiers, 325 sailors). Of this number, 115 (77 soldiers and 38 sailors), were given introduction cards to employers and 92 (62 soldiers, 30 sailors) secured positions.

In the men's skilled department, the majority of orders were for mechanics in all branches of the metal trades, especially for machinists and tool makers. The building trades were very quiet during the month and the orders received easily filled, except for plumbers and bricklayers. A number of positions for firemen and engineers, and the printing industries' demands, principally for pressfeeders, were quickly filled.

The men's unskilled department has had a steady demand for able bodied laborers with the supply nearly equal to the demand. Married couples to work on farms are still very scarce with several orders remaining unfilled. The demand for cooks in hotels and restaurants has been very good, with a number of acceptable positions open at this time.

The demand for boys for errands, offices and factories has been fair with a good supply of applicants to fill the positions.

Business in the women's departments has been very quiet especially in manufacturing concerns. The garment trades' demand has fallen off considerably, due no doubt, to the lull between the seasons. Waitresses and chambermaids, especially for the summer resorts are in great demand with only a small supply of applicants. The state institutions are in urgent need of attendants, nurses and culinary workers. There is a good supply of young girl factory workers with practically no demand for their services.

The number of people called for by employers in July was 1,498 as compared with 1,383 in 1922; 1,147 in 1921; 2,016 in 1920; 2,145 in 1919; and 2,588 in 1918.

The number of positions reported filled was 1,011 as compared with 936 in 1922; 894 in 1921; 1,285 in 1920; 1,672 in 1919 and 1,527 in 1918.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 348.

My attention has been called by the commanding officer of Division 3 to an exceedingly meritorious piece of police work performed by Patrolman Jeremiah J. Callahan and Carl E. Melanson of that division.

In the early morning hours of July 28, 1923, Patrolman Callahan and Melanson, who were standing in Merrimac square, noticed a Packard touring car, with dim lights, coming towards them at an unreasonable rate of speed and signalled to the operator to stop, but instead of doing so, he increased his speed as he passed them, turning into Haymarket square.

Desiring to pursue the fleeing car, the officers looked around for an automobile but none was in sight. Patrolman Callahan recollected that a baker's auto truck had passed them shortly before and turned into South Margin street, where it was then standing, they commandeered vehicle and operator and started in search of the Packard, which by this time was out of sight.

Owing to a recent shower, the streets were wet, and the officers were able to trace the Packard by the tracks of the wheels through a number of streets until at length they found it abandoned by its occupants in Prince street. Upon examination the car was found to contain clothing to the value of $2,000, which had previously been stolen from a tailor shop in Cambridge. At this time, Sergeant Marsh and several patrolmen of Station 1, having come to the assistance of the two officers, they succeeded in arresting the occupants of the automobile and later turned them over to the Cambridge police for prosecution.

I am highly gratified to learn of this most excellent police work on the part of these two officers, especially as they have been members of the force for less than two months, and I heartily commend them for the alertness, acumen and sagacity which they exhibited in connection with this important arrest. Such qualities added to the experience which time alone can give, will make them valuable and valued members of the Police Department.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 349.

The resignation of Patrolman John J. Beirne of Division 11 having been presented while charges are pending against him, it is hereby accepted, to take effect at 7.45 o'clock a. m., Tuesday, August 7, 1923, seven days' notice waived.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 350.

On Thursday, August 2, 1923, the nation suffered the loss by death of its chief executive, Warren G. Harding, late President of the United States, and President Calvin Coolidge has appointed Friday, August 10, 1923, the day on which the body of the dead President is to be laid in its last resting place, as a day to be observed by mourning throughout the United States, and has requested that the people, in their respective places of divine worship, show their love and reverence for the great and good President. As this may not be possible for all members of the police force, it is hereby ordered that the members of the force shall show their respect and veneration for the memory of their late President by standing in silent meditation for at least one minute, this to take place at the 5.45 o'clock p. m. roll call, August 10, 1923.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Commissioner.

CONTRACTS AMENDED.

The National Electric Construction and Supply Company have been allowed to amend their contract for the electric and gas systems in the Prince District School, St. Mary's and Mountfort streets, Boston, by striking out the words and figures, "May 12, 1923," on previous extension and substituting therefor the words and figures, "August 20, 1923," so that the paragraph of said date of completion on page 21 shall read: "The work is to be commenced on or about April 24, 1922, and is to be completed on or before August 20, 1923."

MAYOR BATTLES TO KEEP BOSTON'S TAX RATE LOW.

Whether Boston's tax rate remains at $24.70 per $1,000 or advances slightly will be determined in about ten days. Mayor Curley is using every effort to the end that it will remain the same. The assessors have reported to him the practical impossibility of meeting last year's extraordinary increase in valuations, and the reply that the Mayor gave was that the rate must be kept down.

Last year Boston's rate was the third lowest among the cities of the state, Hothole and Beverly standing at the top of the list. The showing was made possible by an increase of $80,000,000 in real estate values, mainly in the heart of the city. There will be no opportunity to make such a record this year.

Chairman Edward T. Kelly asserts that "only in spots" throughout the downtown district can values be increased. As for increased valuation in the outlying sections, the Mayor has decreed that one two and three family houses must be immune.

There is considerable new construction throughout the city, much of it expensive construction in the downtown section. The increase must be more than normal to take care of the increased cost of municipal government during the year, such as $500,000 increase for the maintenance of the Police and Fire Departments; $930,000 for the operating expenses of the School Department; $1,000,000 appropriated for the operation of the new pension act and $350,000 in the Public Works Department in providing for snow removal next winter.

Partly to offset these additional burdens, City Auditor Carven will turn over $1,100,000 to be applied to the tax rate, $790,000 of that having been contributed by the Elevated trustees as a second payment for money contributed by the city for the operation of the road. The state income tax receipts will be $330,000 more than last year.

HYDE PARK STREET CAR SERVICE.

Mayor Curley received the following letter Saturday from Chairman James F. Jackson of the Boston Elevated Railway Trustees:

BOSTON, August 8, 1923.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

MY DEAR MR. MAYOR,—In response to your inquiry as to the service which the Boston Elevated Railway will furnish to the people of Hyde Park in case a satisfactory lease is executed, I would say that the trustees today voted that the fare between Cleary square in Hyde Park and other parts of the system be the basic fare of ten cents now generally in force upon the system and that necessary arrangements be made to establish a bus service between Woleott square, Readville, and Mattapan square on which a fare of ten cents be established for a single ride with the privilege of a free transfer at Cleary square from Hyde Park avenue cars to the bus in the direction of Readville and from the bus running from Woleott square to inbound Hyde Park avenue cars, and privilege of free transfer at Mattapan square in either direction between passengers on the bus line and Blue Hill avenue cars at Mattapan square.

Very truly yours,

JAMES F. JACKSON,
Chairman.

scribed as taken under this order, sixty and 3-100 feet; northwesterly by land of the City of Boston, formerly taken for school purposes, thirty-five and 1-100 feet; containing, twenty-one hundred and one square feet, more or less.

A parcel of land, supposed to belong to Max Uroff, bounded:

Northeasterly by the part of Hamilton terrace hereinbefore described as taken under this order and another part of Hamilton terrace, thirty-four and 57-100 feet; southeasterly by other land supposed to belong to Max Uroff, ninety-one and 68-100 feet; southwesterly by land supposed to belong to Rachel, Annie, Ida and Bertha Carp, fifty and 82-100 feet; northwesterly by a part of the private way known as Mascoma street, and hereinafter described as taken under this order, by two measurements, eighty-six and 81-100 feet on a straight line, and twenty-four and 1-100 feet on a curve of fifteen feet radius; containing forty-seven hundred and ninety-seven square feet, more or less.

A parcel of land, supposed to belong to owner or owners unknown, being part of the private way known as Mascoma street, bounded:

Northeasterly by land of the City of Boston, formerly taken for school purposes, seventeen and 17-100 feet, and by the part of Hamilton terrace hereinbefore described as taken under this order, thirty-eight and 62-100 feet; southeasterly by land hereinbefore described as taken from Max Uroff, by two measurements, eighty-six and 81-100 feet on a straight line and twenty-four and 1-100 feet on a curve of fifteen feet radius; southwesterly by another part of the private way known as Mascoma street, forty and 84-100 feet; northwesterly by land of the City of Boston, formerly taken for school purposes, one hundred fourteen and 48-100 feet; containing forty-three hundred and fifty-four square feet, more or less.

Said parcels are shown on a plan marked "City of Boston, Lawrence Avenue, Fernboro Street, Mascoma Street, Dorchester, December 9, 1920, F. O. Whitney, Chief Engineer, Street Laying-Out Department," and on file in the office of said department.

Voted, That this Board determines that the undermentioned estates sustain damages by the takings made for school purposes on Lawrence avenue, Hamilton terrace and Mascoma street, Dorchester district, under the order of the Board, in the amounts hereinafter set against them, and awards said amounts therefor.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 60.

DAY OF MOURNING, FRIDAY, AUGUST 10, 1923.

While the people of the United States of America are bowed in grief because of the death of our beloved President, and the world at large is paying reverent and deserved homage to the memory of our distinguished leader, the members of the Boston Fire Department join with their fellow citizens in expressing their great sorrow over the loss of the chief executive of our nation, Warren G. Harding. By his kind and lovable disposition, his humane vision and his forbearance in trial President Harding won the love, respect and esteem of his countrymen. His devotion to duty was characterized by a fortitude and fidelity which represented the highest type of Christian service. His life of service and sacrifice will ever remain as an inspiration and stimulus, not only to those who follow in his immediate foot steps, but to the entire citizenship of our great republic.

In order that the members of the Boston Fire Department may manifest their sorrow in a united and concrete manner, the following program will be observed through the department on Friday, August 10, 1923:

a. All musical instruments in department houses will be silent during the day.

b. At 5 p. m. the members of the department will be assembled in full uniform and in roll call formation on the main floor of their respective fire stations by the commanding officers, where they will stand at silent attention for a period of two minutes. Members of the department who are absent from quarters on that day for purposes other than fire duty are requested to cease activities for the same period of time and observe silence.

c. The Fire Alarm Office will sound the gongs in department houses at intervals of thirty seconds for a period of one half hour from 5 p. m. to 5.30 p. m., unless interrupted by the exigencies of the emergency.

d. All employees at headquarters, of the Bureau of Supplies and Repairs, Fire Alarm Branch, Fire Prevention Bureau, Water Division and Veterinary Hospital, whose services can be dispensed with, will be excused from duty on Friday, August 10, 1923.

By order of Fire Commissioner Theodore A. Glynn.

JOHN O. TABELL,
Chief of Department.

LAND-TAKING IN DORCHESTER.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of land comprising four vacant lots on the southwesterly side of Hazleton street, on the southeasterly side of the Martha A. Baker School property, and four lots on the northeasterly side of Walk Hill street, on the southeasterly side of the Martha A. Baker School property, Dorchester district, for school-house purposes, being the following described parcel of land, including the trees, buildings and other structures standing upon or affixed thereto:

A parcel of land, supposed to belong to Albert B. Cary, bounded:

Northeasterly by Hazleton street, one hundred and eighty feet; southeasterly by other land supposed to belong to Albert B. Cary, two hundred twenty-seven and 46-100 feet; southwesterly by Walk Hill street, one hundred ninety and 2-100 feet; northwesterly by land of the City of Boston, formerly taken for school purposes, two hundred twenty-two and 65-100 feet; containing forty-one thousand six hundred and forty-six square feet, more or less.

Said parcel is shown on a plan marked "City of Boston, Walk Hill Street, Dorchester, June 10, 1912, F. O. Whitney, Chief Engineer, Street Laying-Out Department," and on file in the office of said department.

Voted, That this Board determines that the unmentioned estate sustains damages by the taking made for school purposes on Walk Hill street and Hazleton street, Dorchester district, under the order of the Board, in the amounts hereinafter set against it, and awards said amount therefor.

DISCUSSES VENTILATION OF SCHOOLS IN REPORT OF BUSINESS AGENTS' CONVENTION.

Business Agent of the School Committee William T. Keough has submitted the following report.

To the School Committee:

In compliance with the provisions of section 3, chapter 274, of the Acts of 1914, I submit the following report on my attendance at the annual convention of the National Association of Public School Business Officials, held at St. Louis, Mo., May 15 to 18, 1923.

Representatives from twenty-nine states and the District of Columbia were present.

At the opening session addresses of welcome were made by the Mayor and chairman of the Board of Education of the city of St. Louis.

At the eight sessions of the convention the following papers were read and discussed:

"What the New York State Ventilating Commission Did, and Why," D. D. Kimball, heating and ventilating engineer, and a member of the commission, New York City, N. Y.; "Mechanical Versus Window Ventilation," Edwin S. Hallett, chief engineer, Building Department, St. Louis, Mo.; "An Analysis of the Cost of the Heating and Ventilating System for a School Building," James J. Mahar, Schoolhouse Commissioner, Boston, Mass.; "A Primer on Schoolhouse Planning," Frank Irving Cooper, architect, Boston, Mass.; "Emphasizing the Comprehensive School Playground and Building Program," Ernest Sibley, architect, Palisade, New Jersey; "Essential Differences in Planning Small and Large High Schools" (illustrated), William B. Ittner, architect, St. Louis, Mo.; "The Public School in Its Relation to the City Plan," Henry C. Peering, city engineer, Baltimore, Md.; "What Co-operation Does the Superintendent Require of the Business Officials of the Board of Education to Put Over the Educational Program?" W. J. Bickett, city superintendent, Trenton, N. J.; "Why Should Research Bureaus Be Under the Direction of the Secretary of the Board of Education?" William Dick, secretary, Board of Education, Philadelphia, Pa.; "What Service Should the School Architect Render the Board Beyond the Drawing of Plans and Supervising Construction?" Dwight H. Perkins, architect, Chicago, Ill.; "Determining Uniform High School Per Capita Costs," John S. Mount, state inspector of accounts, Trenton, N. J.; "Methods of Employing Janitors," C. W. Handman, secretary, Board of Education, Cincinnati, Ohio; "Securing the Co-operation of the Women of a School District in Putting Over the Financial Program of a Board of Education," Rita Knowles, secretary, Board of Education, Moline, Ill.; "Buying Methods by Which Quality Can Be Assured in Connection with Competitive Buying," Joseph Coyle, New Jersey state purchasing agent, Trenton, N. J.; "Public School Accounting from the Viewpoint of the Auditor," Arthur Kinkade, public school accountant, Chicago, Ill.; "A Scientific Budget for a Town School District," Frances Peirce, secretary, Board of Education, Westfield, N. J.; "A Scientific Budget for a City School District," Arthur B. Moehlman, director of statistics and reference, Detroit, Mich.; "Procedure for Uniform Accounting," W. W. Theisen, assistant superintendent, Milwaukee, Wis.; "How Boston Finances Its School Building Program," Herbert L. Patterson, civil engineer, Schoolhouse Department, Boston, Mass.; "Shifting the School Tax Burden from Property Tax to Other Sources of Revenue," Dr. George D. Strayer, chairman of the Educational Finance Inquiry Commission, New York City; "Fundamental Principles of Marketing Bonds," Prof. John C. Fowles, assistant professor of education, University of Wisconsin.

Three sessions were held on Tuesday, one on Wednesday, three on Thursday and one on Friday, evening sessions being held on Tuesday and Thursday, while in the afternoon and evening of Wednesday the members of the association were the guests of the St. Louis Board of Education on an automobile ride about the city and its parks, visiting the new Woodward High School, the Grover Cleveland High School, the ride ending at the Soldan High School, where dinner was served by the girls of that school under the direction of the department of domestic science.

The following reports by committees of the association were presented and accepted:

Per capita costs, William T. Keough, chairman, Boston, Mass.; sale of convention floor space and space in the annual reports, G. W. Grill, chairman, Lakewood, Ohio; purchase of text-books, Samuel Gaiser, chairman, Newark, N. J.; amendments to constitution and by-laws, William Dick, chairman, Philadelphia, Pa.; audit of the treasurer's accounts, Paul H. Scholz, chairman, San Antonio, Texas; resolutions, Rita Knowles, chairman, Moline, Ill.; nominations, Albert Austermuhl, chairman, Camden, N. J.

The committee on per capita costs made a number of recommendations on methods of determining the per capita contribution and methods of determining per capita costs, the matter to be included in the financial factor, and the divisors to be used. It also recommended that on account of the importance of the matter and the probability of grave differences of opinion in the association, conclusions should not be reached without a careful consideration of the entire association, that the definitions be accepted as tentative for a period of one year, and that they then again receive the attention of the association.

The committee on the proposed sale of convention floor space and space in the annual reports recommended that no action be taken at this time, and that the association be financed as in the past, wholly from the income from the annual dues.

The committee on text-books made a brief but interesting report and comparison on the prices paid on twenty-four books used in forty-one cities, showing some interesting substantial differences in price, some of which were explainable on account of differences in the matter of including or excluding transportation charges, in some cases due to long-time contracts, in some cases due to the fixing of prices by state commissions, etc. The committee explained that in the preparation of its report it was confronted with the problem of either cutting it down to the bone by reducing the titles used for the purpose of comparison to an irreducible minimum or else making up a price book of many pages that would in a measure defeat the purposes of the committee by making comparisons difficult and practically worthless without an accompanying analysis and explanation.

The committee on constitution and by-laws reported an amendment changing the fiscal and administrative year of the organization so that it will end on June 30 of each year instead of April 30, as at present, in order that the officers in charge of the convention may have an opportunity to finish up the work of the year and to prepare and distribute the printed transactions before going out of office.

The paper on "What the New York State Ventilating Commission Did, and Why," by D. D. Kimball, heating and ventilating engineer and a member of the commission, gave a fairly comprehensive summary of the investigations of the commission and its findings.

The investigations of the commission were all made during the years 1915, 1916 and 1917, while the printed report has come out very recently, the reason for such delay being the fact that all of the funds available were used up by the commission in making the investigation, leaving none for the publishing of the report. Funds having been found recently, the report is now available.

The report is divided into two parts, the first dealing with the physiological aspects of ventilation, and the second with the mechanical phases of the ventilation problem.

The principal findings of the commission are as follows:

1. That the physical condition of the air is of greater importance than the chemical composition of the air.
2. Excessive temperatures and humidities reduce physical work, but indications of a similar effect on mental efficiency were not so clear.
3. Stagnant air reduces the appetite and the ability to do physical work, with the presumption of unfortunate concomitant results.
4. The use of schoolrooms depending wholly upon windows for ventilation is wholly impracticable.
5. The use of a prescribed form of window ventilation in certain types of favorably located buildings under the care of teachers thoroughly and always interested in ventilation and constantly supervised is practicable.
6. Altogether as favorable atmospheric conditions were found obtainable in the mechanically ventilated rooms as in the window-ventilated rooms.
7. The preference of teachers and observers for window-ventilated rooms can be answered by better mechanical systems, better operated.
8. Artificial humidification was found to serve no useful purpose, and its omission involved no loss in comfort or in physical and mental progress.
9. Recirculation as applied to entire buildings has encountered no difficulty with odors, and has been found most efficient and economical.
10. Ozone is not essential, and is not even an aid to successful ventilation.
11. Definite suggestions are given as to the location of fresh air supply inlets and exhaust outlets for classroom ventilation, and suggestions are offered to govern the installation of both window and mechanically ventilating systems.

1. Overheating was found to be the most common and perhaps the most serious fault in schoolroom practice. A thermometer on each teacher's desk is emphasized as the most essential part of the heating and ventilating equipment.

Mr. Kimball's personal observation is to the effect that a poor ventilating system in the hands of a skillful engineer will give better results than a good system in the hands of a poor janitor, and that the success achieved with a mechanical ventilating system is largely a measure of the intelligence and skill of the operator.

Edwin S. Hallett, chief engineer of the Board of Education of the city of St. Louis, in his paper on "Mechanical Versus Window Ventilation," took issue in a most emphatic fashion with the conclusions of the New York commission. He stated that the science and art of heating and ventilating had passed through the formative stages, wherein one fallacy after another had been eliminated, that the American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers had established a research laboratory for the strict purpose of making determinations that would settle for all time the actual facts on such investigated subjects, and that these data are free from bias and self-interest of every kind. This laboratory is established in the United States Bureau of Mines building at Pittsburgh, with building, fuel, light and water contributed by the government.

He called attention to the important fact that the air of our great cities is not clean and wholesome. The visible smoke is only an indication of the worse, sulphur and carbon monoxide gases present, to say nothing of the effluvia and odors emanating from factories, slaughter houses, and the like. In addition to the poisonous and disagreeable fumes, the frequent high winds whip the dust into every nook and crevice. "Give us nature's fresh air" is a slogan heard in many quarters, but he believes there is no such thing in any great industrial city.

He stated that in the new buildings of St. Louis, and in some degree in about forty old ones, the heating and ventilating had been perfected to the extent that it may be truthfully said that the air condition is equal in every respect to the most delightful open spot to be found on the globe. As a goal to be obtained, the definite task was set to secure the actual reproduction in the schoolrooms of the best air condition to be found anywhere. It must be warm enough and not too warm; it must be moving with a gentle motion and not a draft; it must have enough moisture—say about 50 per cent. It must be free of dust and the attendant bacteria and disease germs; it must be free from all odors of exterior air and from all fumes and substances emanating from the bodies of the occupants or from other sources. He declared that every one of these qualities are present in the St. Louis schools in a 100 per cent measure, as testified to by the occupants, who number 50,000, and not by any commission or committee.

Mr. Hallett declared that there is only one best way to get these results, and that we are not interested in the others, and that this system briefly consists of the following:

1. The heat to be generated in steam boilers.

2. That the all-blast system is the best and most economical to build and to operate, and that it warms the air evenly, exactly as required for any degree of warmth required in the room.

That the so-called split system is in reality both a direct radiator system and an undersized fan system, and that there is no occasion whatever for the direct radiation in the room. He believes that the system operates very much less effectively, for the radiators along the wall make a wide strip too warm and leave another unsupplied, with heat. They are difficult to clean, they heat on the floor, and are often noisy. The direct additional cost is about 100 per cent over an all-blast system, and the indirect cost in the form of extra width in the room is very large. In fact, the schoolroom must be at least one foot wider to accommodate radiators under the windows, and the foot taken up is the best foot in the room.

3. A good system of heat control is indispensable, but it is just as important to have it operated properly. Rules should be enforced against the manipulation of the thermostats by teachers, custodians and others who are unfamiliar with their construction. Excessively high temperature in the rooms is mostly due to a violation of this rule.

4. Properly designed air ducts properly located will insure that the warm air flows across the upper portions of the room to the opposite wall and then moves gently downward and backward toward the source and at a barely perceptible velocity. The one rule of common sense is that the motion shall be agreeable to the occupants. With a low humidity the proper air motion will feel too cool unless the temperature is raised. The correct practice is to maintain about 50 per cent of relative humidity, and the air motion will be a delight at 68 degrees of temperature. Such result can only be obtained with a fan system run at a constant speed and with correct diffusers at the inlets of the ducts. The opening of windows or doors or the closing of the vent registers will spoil the circulation. Smoke tests show the warm air going out of an open window over the heads of the pupils.

5. Mr. Hallett believes that no system of ventilation has any right to be called mechanical which does not have an effective air washer. In support of this statement it was found in St. Louis that in the cases of buildings without air washers there was about twice as much illness as in those fitted up with air washers. The air washer is also the means of regulating the humidity.

6. Mr. Hallett is also most emphatic in his opinion that an ozone apparatus must now be included in every mechanical system entitled to recognition as a perfect system as it has been positively determined that it is effective in removing all the body odors, and odors clinging to old schools and public buildings. It pleases the teachers, relieves fatigue and prevents restlessness of the children. In Mr. Hallett's belief it is the most important part of air conditioning.

7. It having been found in the St. Louis schools that the air taken in, warmed, the dust and fumes removed, proper humidity supplied, then moved on through the rooms, a very minute fraction of it touching a pupil, and thence out through the vent stacks, upon its escape from the building was in every respect better than the fresh new air coming in, with the single exception that it did have some new odors which had come from the bodies and clothing of the children, the next step was to recirculate this air with the exception of that permitted to escape from the toilets by means of exhaust fans, repurify it by air washers and ozonators, and recirculate it through the building, 90 per cent of the air being returned, the amount of new make-up air being only necessary to supply the leakage from doors, windows and the toilet vents.

Mr. Hallett declared that the cost of these most perfect heating and ventilating plants is less than the common plan radiator system without ventilation, and costs less to operate than such a plain radiator plant. The Woodward School, having twenty-six classrooms, double kindergarten, two gymnasias, two playrooms, suite of two rooms for the hygiene department, public library room, and assembly room, with a total cubic content of 960,000 cubic feet, cost $40,450, or 4 cents per cubic foot to install, the contract being let in 1922. The cost of coal for operating the building for the season 1922-23 was $584, or a cost per pupil for the year of 56 cents. (One of our Boston schools of this size with Boston temperatures will burn about 275 tons of coal per year.)

Mr. Hallett is of the belief that there is no longer a place for open window ventilation in school buildings during the heating season; that there is no evidence that a low temperature is advantageous to health; and that it is most certain that the benefits that have come from the open-air schools have not come from the low temperature nor the dust, bacteria and bad odors that are blown in. He believes that correct food and rest have done all that is done in such schools.

Mr. Hallett believes that in the face of present authentic information on the subject, the New York report is simply preposterous; that it is quite generally known outside of New York City that the ventilation in the New York public schools is a farce; that generally the fan systems are not in operation; and that in only one of the schools tested was an air washer installed and in that case the custodian was not instructed to run or how to run the plant. In other words, the poorest systems of mechanical ventilation were operated in the poorest condition. He is of the belief that mechanical ventilation must be the complete equipment that shall fully restore the air to all its natural qualities and that the open window does not supply a single one of these conditions.

He cites numerous investigations, all leading up to the same conclusions.

He believes that the present state of ventilating science will shortly depopulate the open-air school as it has been known in recent years, as evidences are at hand to show that recovery to normal weight in the regular school where milk is supplied is more rapid than in the open air.

The mere incidental saving of from $60,000 to $70,000 in the cost of coal in St. Louis is nothing in comparison with the improved health which has attended improvement in heating and ventilating in that city.

Mr. Hallett declares that mechanical ventilation can be designed and installed in school buildings which is 100 per cent perfect, that it has been done in St. Louis, and if there are any persons who are skeptical he is prepared to show them the plans.

James J. Mahar presented a very concrete method of estimating and checking up the costs of the heating and ventilating system for a school building, which will be found most valuable to persons who have occasion either to estimate on the cost of new buildings or to check bids on such apparatus upon their receipt.

Frank Irving Cooper of Boston discussed the need of planning school buildings for educational service, and illustrated methods of checking the efficiency of the plans of any existing or proposed school building. He also recommended a specific method for calculating the cost of buildings in advance of planning and construction.

Mr. Sibley in his paper emphasized the necessity of securing ample school and playground sites while they may be had. He suggests that sites for schoolhouses should be secured in advance of their immediate need, and immediately converted into playgrounds, reserving sufficient of the plot for the school building that the survey of the future needs may indicate. He advocates proper leadership, suitable space for athletics and for the smaller children's play, and that the plots be bordered by trees. He is of the belief that it is under a comprehensive school and recreational program that Americanization can best be accomplished; that the future strength and security of the nation depends much upon the education of the foreigner and his commitment to American ideals; and that much of their respect for the ideals and principles of America would be absorbed from association in the schoolroom and on the playground with the boy and girl who are Americans by birth and tradition.

William B. Itner, architect, of St. Louis, pointed out the essential differences in planning small and large high schools, emphasizing the greater efficiency which usually attends the design of a large high school.

W. J. Bickett, superintendent of schools, Trenton, N. J., presented a helpful paper on the co-operation which business officials of school boards may give to the efficient carrying out of the educational program. He stated his belief that it makes little or no difference just how the school department is organized so long as each department head is a competent executive and co-operates with the superintendent for the highest type of educational work.

Dwight H. Perkins indicated some of the kinds of service which a school architect can render the board of education beyond the drawing of plans and supervising construction. He pointed out the large and increasing numbers of expert educators not architects being trained as survey specialists in the statement and the direction of the solution of school building problems in schools of education. He believes, however, that while their employment by boards of education is a matter of increasing value and recognition, their enlistment in the organization of the architect is illogical and leads to the complication rather than to the simplification of schoolhouse construction. Mr. Perkins pointed out the prevailing practice in Europe of turning over every important building to the original designer to see to its preservation as long as he lived, and after that to some other architect as his successor.

John S. Mount, state inspector of accounts, Trenton, N. J., presented a method for the determination of high school per capita costs used in that state for the purpose of fixing tuition rates. Mr. Mount's method included provision for separating the costs of other grades when housed in the same building, and also for apportioning administration costs. His costs also include what have never been included in this state; that is, a charge for the rental of the building. It was found that by making a total charge of 5 per cent per annum on the total cost of the building and dividing such total cost by the number of pupils, the cost for rent was secured which was wholly satisfactory to both the city providing the education and the city paying the tuition.

The paper on "Methods of Employing Janitors," by C. W. Handman, business manager, Cincinnati, Ohio, was most interesting in that it described a system of fixing the compensation of janitors, established in 1906, very much like that in vogue in Boston for the past nineteen years, with this exception, that the person to whom the compensation for the janitor service was paid was required not only to hire all necessary labor but to purchase his own cleaning material, such as brushes, brooms, mops, soaps, etc. The Board of Education, however, furnished the ladders, lawn mowers and tools of all kinds which were necessary to operate the building and care for the grounds.

This system was found by long experience to be both effective and economical. The engineer or janitor had every incentive to be industrious or economical, for any saving in labor or material cost was immediately reflected in the increased margin of profit for himself. There was, of course, a natural tendency to be sparing in the employment of help and use of material, but careful supervision reduced this to a minimum.

It would also appear that the system differed from ours in that the School Board invited bids on each building and awarded it to the lowest satisfactory bidder. In May, 1920, however, the aggregate individual bids having jumped from $629.86 to $1,272.70 per day, an increase of 102 per cent, the Board rejected all the bids and awarded the entire contract for all the schools in the city at the rate of $975 per day, an increase of 54.7 per cent over the old rate.

On May 31, 1922, another one-man contract was made at the rate of $783 per day.

The contractor is required to furnish a surety bond for the faithful performance of his contract, and a liability clause is inserted whereby the contractor is charged for any damage resulting from incompetence or negligence on his part or on the part of his employees. The one-man contract, however, has not been found as satisfactory as the individual contract for each building.

Among the defects of the one-man contract is the lack of immediate control over engineers and janitors, inferior class of labor employed, increase in the minor repairs necessary, and increased supervision necessary.

Miss Rita Knowles, secretary of the Board of Education at Moline, Ill., described in some considerable detail the methods recommended for securing the sympathetic action of the women voters of the school district in securing the necessary appropriations.

Arthur Kinkade, public school accountant of Chicago, Ill., and former president of the association, made some practical recommendations on the matter of public school accounting.

Miss Frances Peirce, secretary of the Board of Education at Westville, N. J., gave a very clear and comprehensive description not only of the preparation of the scientific budget for a small town but of the business methods and the relations of the different offices to the Board of Education in such school districts.

Arthur B. Mochlman, director of statistics and reference of the Detroit Board of Education, read an elaborate paper on the scientific budget for city school districts, which he summarized into three phases, (1) preparation, (2) selling, (3) administration, and which described the methods now used in that city where the Board of Education prepares the estimates, must submit them to the City Council and secure its appropriation from that body, but upon receipt of the appropriation is in full charge of the expenditure of the funds so provided.

Dr. W. W. Theisen, assistant superintendent of schools, Milwaukee, Wis., in his paper on "Procedure for Uniform Accounting," emphasized the necessity for a more exact terminology if exact comparisons were to be made, and recommended the appointment of a committee on uniform procedure for the purpose of working out definitions for applying the principles outlined in the standard report required by the Federal Bureau of Education. The association accepted Doctor Theisen's recommendation and appointed the committee.

Herbert L. Patterson, civil engineer, Schoolhouse Department, Boston, Mass., described in some detail the proposed Boston school-building program.

Dr. George D. Strayer, chairman of the Educational Finance Inquiry Commission, New York City, pointed out the burden on property owners under the existing taxing methods. The general drift of his remarks would indicate his belief in some form of state or national income tax for the relief of those communities where the income or wealth of the community is not sufficient to provide education of the kind to which he believed every child in the country is entitled.

A very practical paper on the fundamental principles of marketing bonds was read by Prof. John C. Fowlkes, assistant professor of education, University of Wisconsin.

While in the above summary it might appear that undue emphasis has been placed upon the building program and some of the building problems, the program was well balanced, practically every phase of the business side of school administration being handled by a carefully prepared paper or brought up for discussion at some one of the sessions of the convention.

Very truly yours,

WILLIAM T. KEOUGH,
Business Agent.

EXTRA WORK UNDER CONTRACT.

P. J. Dinn & Co. have been ordered to do work under their contract for repairing Wood Island footbridge over Boston, Revere Beach & Lynn Railroad, East Boston, in excess of the estimated cost of $2,586, the excess amount being $4,500.

CITY PLANNING EXPERT MAKES SEVERAL SUGGESTIONS FOR BOSTON.

The following report with recommendations has been received from Nelson F. Lewis, consultant to the City Planning Board and submitted to the Mayor:

130 EAST TWENTY-SECOND STREET,
NEW YORK CITY, April 23, 1923.
CITY PLANNING BOARD,
Boston, Mass.:

Having been advised by your secretary that you would be glad to have a brief report from me covering my period of service as consultant to your Board since May 1, I submit the following:

The character and extent of service required was, as outlined by the chairman, to make a brief study of existing conditions and of data available, and then to suggest to you a program of work to be carried out in order to reach the results desired, which I understand to be the formulation of a comprehensive plan for future development. I was asked to suggest the use which could profitably be made of existing agencies, such as city departments and bodies like the Chamber of Commerce, which had volunteered their assistance, and to indicate what work could be carried out by investigators and others employed by and under the immediate direction of the Board. It was understood that I would be expected to advise as to the general scope of the work in its initial stages and as to the lines of inquiry which should be undertaken first. It was not desired that I should prepare any specific plans, nor could I have undertaken to do so.

I was furnished, by your secretary, with copies of the annual reports made by the Board and of such other reports as were available, and with abstracts of still others. Anyone examining these reports cannot but be impressed with the great amount of intelligent effort and careful study which have been given by individuals, organizations and commissions, in the hope that a comprehensive plan for the future development of the city might be evolved. Thirty years ago, in 1892, the Surveying Department suggested a comprehensive plan of street widenings, the creation of some new streets, and the adoption of certain policies, such as the exclusion of street cars from the congested area, substituting for them elevated railroads. All of these suggestions related, of course, to the City of Boston, as then constituted. A year later a report of the Board of Surveys contained a description of a topographical survey which had been undertaken. This divided the city into a series of squares, measuring 10,000 feet on each side and all new streets were to be located by co-ordinates with reference to a common origin at the intersection of two base lines passing through the dome of the State House.

The report states that preliminary surveys had been made covering an area of over 16,000 acres, or 25 square miles, and that complete surveys had been made covering 4,000 acres, or 34 square miles. This work does not appear to have been completed or to have advanced very much since the time of the report. A map of this kind would have been invaluable in city planning studies, especially if supplemented, as is now possible, by an aerial survey or even by a series of oblique aerial views.

Other reports followed at brief intervals, these relating to waterfront facilities, the Charles river dam and basin (since carried out), improved transit facilities, a system of main thoroughfares and municipal improvements generally. In most of the reports the recommendations are presented in an admirable manner, but frequently with a certain amount of timidity caused by an apparent consciousness that they propose something which would be criticised as very extravagant and with a feeling of uncertainty as to how the improvements suggested could be financed.

Few of the many projects proposed have been realized and this is probably due to the fact that the various bodies, commissions, or committees which have devoted so much time to their investigations, had no official standing, even though some of them may have been created by state law. Each one of them was created for a very definite purpose, viz., to make investigations and report conclusions, and its official existence ceased with the submission of its report. The municipal authorities had no power to carry out the recommendations of the committees or commissions, or even to translate them into official plans.

Many of the reports ignored city boundaries in their studies and tried to lay the foundation for a plan for the metropolitan district. While doing so they appeared to be conscious of the futility of their work unless some machinery were created to carry out their suggestions. This feeling is expressed in the final report of the Commission on Metropolitan Improvements, one of the best and most comprehensive reports of the kind which I have seen. In this report the commission says, "immediate execution is not necessary for any of the works suggested, but it is very probable that the work the commission has done in the matter of highways will be largely wasted unless it reaches the hands of some centralized authority."

To leave the metropolitan highway situation simply to local action will, the commission is confident, lead to no results of metropolitan significance."

No attempt will be made to review the different recommendations made in these reports, but a few of the more important subjects covered by them will be briefly discussed. It might be logical to consider, first, the suggestions applying to the city only, but that is well-nigh impossible for the reason that the political entity known as the City of Boston, with its limited area, is so completely surrounded and hemmed in, except along its ocean waterfront, by other municipalities, that in nearly every problem is involved that of access to or exit from the city through adjoining cities and towns.

Transportation of both passengers and goods has been the subject of many investigations and reports. The problem includes the movement of all the supplies of food not only for the three quarters of a million people within the City of Boston, but for the additional million within the rest of the metropolitan district; the various materials of construction required for the improvement and extension of the urban district and its various public works; the raw material required for its extensive manufactures and their finished product; and also the vast amount of material transhipped or interchanged between different railroads or between railroads and ships. A great deal has been said and written about the Port of Boston and its commerce, but that is so large a subject and requires such an amount of special expert study that only casual reference can be made to it. The problem of the port is not simply that of its water-borne commerce but it involves the complete co-ordination of rail and water transport.

The report of the State Board of Docks and Terminals, made in 1897, calls special attention to the administration of the Port of San Francisco, under a State Board, and is a plea for a larger unit of administration in port matters. The subject is also carefully considered and forcefully presented in the report of the Committee on Metropolitan Improvements of 1909 and of the Joint Board on Metropolitan Improvements, which followed in 1911. The subject of transportation was discussed by the Terminal Committee created by statute in 1915, and in the report, made in 1916, of the Joint Committees on Transit Facilities and Public Utilities, this latter report dealing chiefly with the financial aspects of street railway operation. The Shawmut Bank also issued, in 1916, a statement relative to the commerce of Boston and other ports, while in the following year, Professor Cherington prepared a report for a committee of the Chamber of Commerce upon the same general subject.

The reports just referred to relate, for the most part, to freight handling facilities, but in the old part of Boston there are two passenger railway terminals, at which arrive most of the commuters who have their homes in the various communities which, together with Boston, make the Metropolitan District, and from which they find their way to their offices or places of employment. The consolidation of these two stations might not be desirable, but if they were connected so that local trains on any of the railroads arriving at either terminal could run through it to the other and there distribute their passengers, without requiring them to use the already over-burdened city transit system, the advantage would be very great. The importance of this connection was emphasized in the reports of 1909 and 1911 on Metropolitan improvements. It has also been proposed that the Back Bay Station should be brought into this group of distributing stations and that the loop be completed by connection, under the Charles river, between the Back Bay Station and the Boston & Maine Railroad.

The further extension of the city's transit system is a subject to which the Transit Department is giving special attention and, while this is a very important part of the city plan, it is assumed that any recommendations will be the result of conference and agreement with that department.

No single phase of the planning problem has attracted more attention and been more fully discussed than that of street traffic. The obvious handicap to the business of the city, resulting from congestion in the streets due to the transport through them of goods and materials which had better be carried around the city, and the large proportion of the time of vehicles of all kinds consumed in standing still and waiting when they should be moving, while they cannot be expressed in dollars with any degree of accuracy, would justify a very large expenditure in order to free the streets of the city for business which must be done in and through them. But even if some of the traffic could be taken from the streets they would still be of inadequate capacity, while there is a conspicuous lack of direct routes between different parts of the city. Boston was one of the first cities in this country to adopt the expedient of one-way streets in order to lessen congestion and confusion. That undoubtedly helped, and it has probably been carried about as far as it can be. More heroic measures are needed and the various committees and commissions, whose reports have appeared at irregular intervals, have made numerous suggestions for the widening and straightening of existing streets and cutting through new thoroughfares.

Reference has already been made to the report of the Surveying Department made in 1892. Further suggestions were contained in the reports of 1909 and 1911, in the reports of the United Improvement Association of 1913, in the report on city planning made by the Chamber of Commerce in 1914, and a separate report giving the results of a study by the "Under Forty Division" of the Chamber. The ambitious program for street widenings and extensions, made in 1892, would have involved such great cost that no part of it was undertaken. More recently has come the series of annual reports made by your Board, in each of which one or more projects have been outlined on considerable detail.

A number of them appear to have met with public approval and some have secured legislative authority, but, with several conspicuous exceptions, final authorization has not been secured, opposition has developed, or delay has been urged owing, probably, to doubt on the part of the objectors as to whether the specific project would be of as great public benefit as others which had been or might be proposed, and uncertainty as to just how it was to be financed.

Boston appears to have suffered from the lack of a consistent policy of financing public improvements. Any intelligently planned improvement results in local benefit, and where there is local benefit there should, in justice, be local assessment. This policy has been consistently followed in New York City for about 150 years. The entire cost of acquiring new streets, even up to 80 feet in width, has been so assessed, as has been a large proportion of the cost in the case of wider streets. About one third of the cost of the acquisition of land for Central Park and Prospect Park was locally assessed.

Street widenings have, in some cases, been accomplished by establishing set-back lines. This method was suggested in the report of the Surveying Department in 1892. It is a relatively inexpensive but a very slow way of attaining the object sought and if the widening is worth doing at all, the great cost of doing it at once may be more than offset by the greater value of the immediate benefit and the avoidance of years of ragged and disheveled appearance of the streets. It might well be applied in outlying districts where only a small proportion of the land outside of the proposed new lines has been built upon; in completely built-up and busy portions of the city this method would probably meet with vigorous objection.

Something might be accomplished by further regulation, as suggested in the report on street traffic made by the Chamber of Commerce in 1914, but regulation appears to have gone about as far as it can. One of the suggestions in this last named report is that the sidewalks of Washington street be widened. If this were done it would have to be at the expense of the roadway, as there was no suggestion of disturbing the street frontage. A more logical change would be to widen the roadway so as to occupy the full width of the street and place the sidewalks in arcades within the building line. This has been done on the easterly side of Fifteenth street, south of the Pennsylvania Railroad Station, in Philadelphia, and very satisfactory results have been secured in this way in some European streets, notably in Paris and Borne. Unless, however, some uniform architectural treatment can be insured the appearance of the street would not be satisfactory.

Report after report has emphasized the need of additional traffic ways. Confining attention, for the present, to the central part of the city, that still seems to be a great and important need. The city is being strangled. These old tortuous streets and lanes are interesting, many of them are charming, but they do not meet the needs of the city of today. That need is not necessarily for straight streets but for fairly direct connections of adequate traffic capacity between the points from which and to which the business of the city flows. The need of some of them is so obvious that it is not surprising that the recommendations in the different reports are almost identical.

The number of important improvements actually carried out since the construction of the South Station has been very few, but there are several of far reaching importance, among them the Charles River Basin, the Cambridge Bridge and the Commonwealth Pier. A very notable improvement urged by your Board, and now approaching completion, is the widening and extension of Stuart street. The preparation of a zoning plan has also been recommended in a number of the reports of your Board, and in one of my earlier memoranda, filed with the Board, I urged that zoning should be considered as an essential part of any comprehensive plan; also that a zoning plan could be worked out in the office of the Board by its own staff or by a staff to be created as a part of your city planning organization supplemented by the advice and co-operation of someone who was expert in this kind of work. This policy was adopted and very satisfactory progress has been made in the development of a comprehensive zoning plan. The ordinance, as prepared for discussion seems to be especially well-drawn, free from ambiguity, and in conformity with the best recent practice in zoning.

There are a number of things which might be included in the future program of the Board as particularly well worth while, and which would bring quick results in public convenience, stimulation of business and increased taxable values. The proposed widening of Cambridge street is a notable example, and this appears to have made considerable headway, having been placed near the head of the list of improvements advocated by the Mayor, having been strongly recommended by your Board, and having met with favor in the State Legislature. This would form a most important link in a series of improvements which, when completed, would be of enormous benefit to the city, connecting the two terminal railway stations and the marginal street along the waterfront.

The electrification of the trunk line passenger railway lines entering the city has been repeatedly suggested. While this is an expensive undertaking it would make possible other most desirable improvements. Any visitor to Boston must regard, with some surprise, the existence of the large railroad yard alongside of Boylston street and within sight of what is perhaps the most notable group of buildings in the city, that about Copley square. The land is not peculiarly adapted to use as a railroad yard and what appears to be an excellent suggestion has been made, viz., that an exchange be effected by which South bay, or a portion of it, might be filled in and turned over to the railroad company in exchange for the property it now uses for the purpose.

If this could be brought about there seems to be a possibility of using the property for some important public purpose. Nearly everyone is familiar with the change that has taken place in the neighborhood of the Grand Central Terminal, in New York, following the electrification of the railroad. Park avenue was a noisy, smoky, railroad right-of-way and yard, cutting off eleven cross streets and one important avenue. With a depression of the tracks and a substitution of electric for steam operation, the North and South avenue was restored, as well as all of the cross streets, except Forty-third and Forty-fourth streets, while along Park avenue there is rapidly being developed the finest apartment house district in the entire city.

There is no reason why this could not be done at the present Boston & Albany Railroad yard, the space over it being used for some public purpose, while over the tracks could be constructed a much needed traffic artery between Beacon street and the present southwesterly end of Atlantic avenue, which, although the widest street in the old part of the city and skirting the waterfront, lacks adequate outlets or connections at both ends. The suggestion just made would provide such an outlet at one end, while the widening of Commercial street and Causeway street and the extension of the latter to the easterly end of the Cambridge Bridge, as already suggested by your Board, or with the widened Cambridge street, would provide another outlet.

A few suggestions as to the general policy of the Board may not be out of place. It is, of course, a matter of regret that the jurisdiction of your Board is confined simply to the City of Boston. There is a growing appreciation of the need not only of metropolitan but of regional planning. The study now under way in New York includes an area of 5,500 square miles, parts of three states, and no less than 399 separate political units, counties, cities, towns and villages. This is being undertaken and is financed by the Russell Sage Foundation and no public funds are being used. Any attempt on the part of public officials to plan on this would doubtless be resented by most of the communities affected.

You have metropolitan boards to deal with many of your big questions but not with this, one of the biggest of them all. Let me suggest that an effort be made to establish relations with the planning boards of other municipalities within the metropolitan district so that you will each be advised of what the others are doing, while occasional unofficial conferences will help to reconcile the various plans and may lead to an appreciation of the need of a real metropolitan planning board of commission. There is a strong plea for metropolitan planning or regional planning in the joint report of the Committee on Municipal and Metropolitan Affairs and the Committee on Public Utilities of the Chamber of Commerce made under date of November 8, 1922.

The "Comprehensive Plan" should always be kept in mind and every project which receives the study of your Board and its staff should be considered in its relation to the larger plan. You will need the stimulus of public interest and sympathy, however, and that cannot be aroused over the routine work of developing a comprehensive plan, especially in its earlier stages. The public and the various bodies whose co-operation you will want, need a specific project to support and talk about, and but one such project at a time. It would be well, therefore, to decide upon one or more specific improvements that will receive the support of the Mayor and other high city officials, the Chamber of Commerce and other commercial business, civic and professional organizations, and concentrate upon that. It might be well to discuss such a plan informally with some of them before any public announcement is made, but alternative plans for the same purpose are probably unwise.

In selecting a particular project there is nothing to be gained by trying to pick the cheapest; it is not unlikely that a big enterprise, even though it involves a big expense, will more likely to win public approval than a very modest one.

The value and importance of a topographical survey has already been emphasized. That is an undertaking that would involve large expense and require much time, while to be of real value it should include not only the city over which the jurisdiction of your Board extends but the entire metropolitan district. In the absence of this, I believe that an aerial survey, with a mosaic map on a scale of about 400 feet to the inch, would be of very great help in working out the comprehensive plan.

The preparation of a plan for Boston may seem unusually difficult owing to the number of distinct parts into which it is divided by navigable waterways. This, however, has one compensating advantage in that it will be possible to plan a number of self-contained improvements which will probably make a strong appeal to the particular districts in which they are located. The time, however, should be borne in mind when there will be traffic tunnels under these dividing waters and the natural barriers will be at least partially eliminated and any project in one of these areas, however self-contained it may appear, should fit into the larger plan. London has built several such tunnels under the Thames, and work is now in progress on two tubes under the Hudson at New York. The great amount of work of this kind which has been done in Boston, New York and elsewhere, has developed a number of skillful and resourceful engineers and contractors, so that such work, formerly considered very difficult and involving great risk, has few terrors for them.

It is not unlikely that the lands between high and low water, or even more extensive riparian rights, once the property of the state or city, have been appropriated and are being wrongfully held by private owners or corporations. While such cases probably exist in the older parts of the city they will doubtless be found in outlying sections where the property has not yet become very valuable. Such area, if in public ownership, would contribute greatly to the health and pleasure of the people and every effort could well be made to prevent their alienation or to secure their recovery where possible. In the report of the State Board of Docks and Terminal Facilities, made in 1897, attention was called to the importance of retaining at least a portion of the foreshore in public ownership for all time. A legal investigation of the titles of such property, by your Board, may prove to be well worth while.

Respectfully,

NELSON F. LEWIS.

LIBRARY ACTIVITIES.

Charles Belden, librarian, has submitted the following report to the Mayor for the month of July.

The peak of the tourist season is evinced by the large number of strangers daily visiting the public rooms of the Central Library. The regular library patrons, as is usual in summer, have materially decreased in number. The Children's Room, except on Sundays, is often almost without youthful readers. It is a fact, however, that there are probably more people in and out of the building during July and August than any other months of the year. During the summer the information office on the ground floor and the public desks in other parts of the building are besieged by inquirers.

During the month just closed 5,968 volumes have been ordered and 5,762 volumes have been received and accessioned. During the same period 2,346 periodicals have been received and recorded; four sales catalogues and one auction catalogue have been examined; eleven foreign invoices have been received as follows: four from England, three from Holland, two from France, and two from Germany; 1,112 volumes and 915 serials have been received and acknowledged to 471 givers. This record is evidence that the work in the closed departments of the library proceeds as briskly during the summer as during the winter.

The monthly publications have been as follows:

Quarterly Bulletin, Serial IV, Vol. V, No. 2, April-June, 1923.

Four weekly bulletins of new books.

Five ten-book lists, one of them double.

No. 79. Automobile journeys in New England.

No. 80. Cricket.

No. 81. Photography: General and pictorial photography.

No. 82. Photography: Special topics.

No. 83. Animals and their ways.

The centenary exhibit of Sir Joshua Reynolds continues in the exhibition room on the third floor. In the children's room will be found an interesting loan exhibit of mounted butterflies from the Children's Museum.

Appended may be found the usual records.

AUTHORITY TO DO WORK.

The Mayor has approved the request of Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department to resurface with bituminous mixture Everett street, from Western avenue to Adams street, with division forces, without inviting proposals, the estimated cost for labor and material being $5,000.

EXTENSION OF CONTRACT.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Walter Curley has been given an extension of contract for completion of the work at the quarters of Engine 13 for a period of fourteen days, from August 1, 1923, due to the trouble in getting materials on the job by the various mechanics.

GENERAL GOURAUD COMING NEXT WEEK.

Mayor Curley received advices from the Department of War on Monday that General Henri J. Gouraud, "The Lion of the Argonne," has been chosen by President Millerand of France as the special representative of the republic to attend the funeral of President Harding in Washington upon Wednesday, August 8, as Ambassador Jusserand is in Paris.

Later advices indicate that General Gouraud will visit Boston during next week.

MAYOR CHOOSES PROFESSOR WARNER.

Mayor Curley on Monday appointed Prof. Edward P. Warner of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology to serve upon the committee chosen by Maj. Gen. Andre W. Brewster, U. S. A., upon the dedication of the Boston air port upon September 8.

Howard Conoley, president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, will serve as chairman of the committee.

OMIT WORK UNDER CONTRACT.

B. E. Grant Company have been directed to omit the following work under contract for repaving Dorchester avenue, from Summer street to bridge over Fort Point channel. Items ordered: Omit the cutting of coping of sea wall where directed; amount to be deducted from sum bid for doing Item 13, $1,040, at an estimated cost of $1,040.

MASSACHUSETTS CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS.

The Massachusetts Civil Service Commission announces examinations for desirable positions as follows:

FISH AND GAME WARDEN (MALE), DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION, AUGUST 18, 1923.

The salary is $1,200 a year. Applicants must be at least twenty-five years of age at the time of filing application. A certificate of date of birth must be filed with the application.

The duties of this position are to enforce the laws of the Commonwealth relating to fish, birds, quadrupeds and forest fies, to prosecute cases of violations in court, to assist in the propagation of fish and birds, to assist in the seining and salvaging of fish and other field activities connected with fish and bird propagation and conservation, to give talks and illustrated lectures in schools, before clubs, associations, etc., to describe the work and problems of the department. It is desirable that applicants have a chauffeur's license and be able to operate boats.

The subject of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Training and experience, 4; practical questions, including a practical test in identifying specimens of fish and game, 3; personality and fitness, as determined by an oral interview, 3; total, 10.

Applicants will be required to obtain a mark of at least 65 per cent in training and experience in order to become eligible.

Successful applicants will also be given a physical examination.

ASSISTANT CHEMIST (MALE), METROPOLITAN DISTRICT COMMISSION, WATER DIVISION, AUGUST 21, 1923.

The salary is $1,800 a year. The duties of this position are to operate an experimental filter station at Framingham and obtain information regarding the purification of the water of the Sudbury river, to make investigations to determine the results of various methods of filtration, especially the use of soda ash and alum as a coagulant. It is desirable that applicants have had experience in the laboratory of a filter plant in New England and be familiar with the methods employed to determine the proper treatment of waters of rivers similar in character to the Sudbury river, and be familiar with the use of coagulants under the varying conditions that occur during different seasons. They should also have sufficient technical knowledge of chemistry to be properly qualified to make chemical and bacteriological analyses of the water and should be experienced in making physical analyses of sands, and be familiar, from actual experience, with the construction, operation and maintenance of slow sand filters.

The subjects of examination with their respective weights will be as follows: Training and experience, 3; practical questions, 2; total, 5.

Applicants will be required to obtain a mark of at least 65 per cent in training and experience in order to become eligible.

BUILDING LAW FIRE PROTECTION.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 30, 1923.

To the City Council:
Gentlemen,—The Building Commissioner, John H. Mahony, has submitted to me a report relative to chapter 278 of the Acts of the Massachusetts Legislature of 1923, which requires acceptance by the City Council and Mayor.

The adoption of chapter 278 of the Acts of 1923 is, in the opinion of the Building Commissioner, necessary for the adequate protection from fire of such buildings as may be erected under the provisions of the building law permitting a height of 155 feet.

I accept the judgment of the Building Commissioner of Boston and the Fire Commissioner of Boston, which I have consulted with reference to the adoption of this particular provision of law, and sincerely trust that immediate and favorable action may be taken by the City Council.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Building Department, July 10, 1923.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:
Dear Sir,—In compliance with your request I am forwarding you the information you desire relative to the new standpipe bill passed by the Legislature of 1923, namely, chapter 278. This particular bill has been before the Legislature for the past two years, and this year it received favorable approval with the understanding that it be accepted by the Mayor and City Council.

The bill was drafted by the officials of the Fire Department and the Building Department, primarily to take care of small fires in the upper stories of the 155-foot building.

This act is in harmony with the law in New York and Cleveland; its purpose is to aid the firemen in putting out small fires by carrying fifty feet of hose on their backs to the outlet on the floor where the fire occurs. The bill also provides, in addition, for a first-aid hose to be used by the occupants of the building in the incipency of a fire.

As it is left to the City Council for final acceptance, I most earnestly urge that a communication be forwarded by you setting forth the necessity of this acceptance at the next meeting of the City Council.

This act had a relative influence in aiding the passage of the addition to the building law permitting buildings to be erected to a height of 155 feet.

This bill further provides the means for the Fire Department to readily attack fires on the opposite side of the street or passageway and thereby prevent extension of possible conflagration.

The bill is strongly urged by the chief of the Fire Department and insurance interests as well as by the Building Department.

A copy of this bill, duly signed by the speaker of the House, the president of the Senate, his Excellency the Governor, and certified by the Secretary of State with the great Seal of the Commonwealth, has been sent to and is now in the possession of the City Council.

Yours very truly,
JOHN H. MAHONY,
Building Commissioner.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

DEPARTMENT FUND TRANSFERS.

The following were received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 30, 1923.

To the City Council:
Gentlemen,—I am in receipt of the attached communications from the Boston Retirement Board and the Board of Assessors, requesting additional funds for the maintenance of their departments. These requests meet with my favor and I respectfully recommend approval of the same by your honorable body.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Assessing Department, June 25, 1923.
Hon. James M. Curley,

Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—We respectfully ask for the transfer of $5,500 from the Reserve Fund to meet the cost of the increase by city ordinance of the salaries of forty-six first assistant assessors.

Respectfully,
BOARD OF ASSESSORS,
by JOSEPH G. O'MALLEY,
Secretary.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer:

From the appropriation for Reserve Fund, $5,500, to the appropriation for Assessing Department, A-1, Permanent Employees, First Assistant Assessors, 46 at $1,500 $1,500 per year, $5,500.

City of Boston,
Boston Retirement Board, July 24, 1923.
Hon. James M. Curley,

Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—As a result of the adoption of the minimum retirement allowance amendment by the last Legislature, it is estimated that there will be an increase in the membership of the retirement system of about 40 per cent and a consequent increase in the office work.

This situation could not be anticipated at the time the budget estimates were made and consequently the Board is obliged to ask for a transfer of $448.75 from the Reserve Fund to A-1 for the purpose of providing for the salary of an additional clerk at $900 per annum for the remainder of the year.

Respectfully yours,
W. J. DOYLE,
Chairman.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer:

From the appropriation for Reserve Fund, $448.75, to the appropriation for Boston Retirement Board, A-1, Permanent Employees, Clerk, 1 at $900 per year, $448.75.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

SUPPLEMENTARY APPROPRIATION BILL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 30, 1923.

To the City Council:
Gentlemen,—I beg to submit herewith a supplementary appropriation bill for the County of Suffolk, due in large part to various acts of the Legislature, and I recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

ORDER MAKING A SUPPLEMENTARY APPROPRIATION FOR THE COUNTY OF SUFFOLK.

TRANSFER OF RAINSFORD ISLAND.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 30, 1923.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith communication from the chairman of the Park Commissioner, in reply to the order passed by your honorable body on June 25, 1923, relative to transferring Rainsford Island to the jurisdiction of the Park Department, which is self-explanatory.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Park Department, July 18, 1923.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I have your letter of June 28, enclosing an order of the City Council, transferring Rainsford Island to the jurisdiction of the Park Department, to establish on the island a municipal owned and controlled summer camp for the use of the younger children.

In reply I would respectfully state that the department is in no position to undertake the work; we have no facilities for transportation, and the children would be safer in some portion of the park system than they would on Rainsford Island.

Very respectfully yours,

JAMES B. SHEA, Chairman.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

STREET LIGHTING CONTRACT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 30, 1923.
To the City Council:
Gentlemen,—Investigation of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company, which has been in progress for some time, should, in my opinion, be continued until a decision is reached, and I accordingly recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That an additional sum, not exceeding $5,000, be authorized to be expended for the purpose of meeting charges for expert services, stenographic services, additional legal assistance and other necessary and proper expenditures in connection with the hearing on the request for arbitration under the street lighting contract between the City of Boston and the Edison Electric Illuminating Company, dated December 7, 1914, and under the petition for a reduction in the prices of electricity filed by the Mayor with the Public Utilities Commission, said amount to be charged to the Reserve Fund. All expenditures shall be subject to the written approval of the Mayor and the Corporation Counsel. Referred to the Executive Committee.

SALE OF CITY LAND.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 30, 1923.
To the City Council:
Gentlemen,—In 1916 the city took two parcels of land on Tower street for a site for a new courthouse for West Roxbury. Another site was afterwards selected and, as there appears to be no public use for this land, I recommend the passage of the accompanying order authorizing its sale.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Buildings Department,
July 25, 1923.
To the City Council:
Gentlemen,—By a taking recorded February 23, 1917, the City of Boston took for a site for a new courthouse, two lots of land on Tower street, near Washington street, Forest Hills, containing respectively 2,600 square feet and 3,327 square feet. Subsequently another site was selected for the location of the courthouse and the land on Tower street, containing approximately 5,827 square feet, in my opinion, no longer required for public purposes.

Respectfully,
FREDERICK W. WAHO,
Acting Superintendent of Public Buildings.

Ordered, That the Superintendent of Public Buildings be authorized to sell, at public auction, the land owned by the city on Tower street, near Washington street, Forest Hills, containing approximately 5,827 square feet, at a price not less than $7,000, and on terms and conditions satisfactory to the Law Department.

Referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

REPLY TO ORDER OF CITY COUNCIL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 30, 1923.
To the City Council:
Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith report from the chairman of the Statistics Department, also a report from the Budget Commissioner, in reply to the order passed by your honorable body on June 11, 1923.

Under the circumstances, it would appear inadvisable to comply with the request therein contained.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Budget Department, June 29, 1923.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—With reference to the attached order, I have had several conferences with the authors, Coun. Hesley, and Mr. Koren, chairman of the Statistics Department Trustees. As a result of these conferences we have agreed that rather than burden the departments with the preparation of quarterly reports it would be more feasible to have the City Record print, at certain definite intervals, items of public interest concerning departmental work. In brief, the idea might be stated as follows: Every three months there would be issued with the City Record a supplement devoted to departmental activities. This supplement would be prepared by the editor of the Record, the departments co-operating to the extent of furnishing the necessary material. If you consider this supplement idea worth while I would suggest that you direct the editor of the City Record to start the preparation of a supplement to be issued during the month of August, summarizing the work of the first six months of this fiscal year.

Respectfully yours,
CHARLES J. FOX,
Budget Commissioner.

City of Boston,
Statistics Department, July 12, 1923.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—Referring to your inquiry concerning the order adopted by the City Council in regard to quarterly reports by certain departments, I beg to say that I adhere generally to the opinion expressed by the Budget Commissioner.

If the burden of preparing quarterly reports were to be placed on different departments it would become intolerable and might easily interfere with their legitimate work. Under the suggested arrangement, it would be feasible for the editor of the City Record to obtain the necessary information and to systematize it himself (with the aid of this department could render him), thus not placing extra work upon departments. Self-evidently, no quarterly report should be printed in the City Record without the endorsement of it by the department in question.

On the expense side, it would not add materially to the cost of the City Record to issue an occasional supplement. It might conceivably attract new readers.

An advantage of the plan suggested would be that a certain publicity could be obtained for city affairs that are of interest to the public at large. The fact that the public must now wait for months or longer before they can learn what a department does or accomplishes, thereby doing necessarily robs the information of current value.

It would, of course, be absurd to print quarterly reports for more than a few important departments.

The order as it stands can accomplish no useful purpose, and would entail a large amount of work, much unnecessary expense, and, if its ultimate aim in the reports would have to be printed separately, which is another way of saying that they would fail to gain publicity. The City Record would provide publicity.

Finally, if the suggestion offered be made use of, it would also point to the superfluity of unwieldy reports by showing that essential matters can be presented in very brief compass, at the same time meeting every public demand.

Respectfully submitted,
JOHN KOREN,
Chairman.

Placed on file.

SALE OF MASON STREET PROPERTY.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

School Committee, July 10, 1923.

To the Honorable the City Council:

I am directed by the School Committee to acknowledge the receipt of the order passed by your honorable committee on June 25, 1923, requesting the committee to grant a public hearing upon the question of disposing by auction of the old School Committee estate on Mason street, and to report thereon as follows:

The City Council is undoubtedly aware that the School Committee is required by law to sell this estate, which has been vacated for a period of about six months. The School Committee in recently taking up the question of discharging the responsibility imposed upon it by law believes that it has acted neither with undue haste nor undue deliberation, and that its intention to dispose of the estate by public auction and to establish a reasonable upset price for the property is best calculated to safeguard and promote the interests of the city.

The School Committee has given this matter its most careful consideration and has taken into account the possible future use of this estate for city purposes, and the selection of an appropriate time to sell the property to best advantage.

The committee does not clearly see that the holding of a public hearing on the subject would result in obtaining additional information of importance in this connection. However, it has no objection to the request of the City Council being carried into effect and therefore has appointed a hearing on the subject to be held in the Administration Building, 15 Beacon street, Boston, on Wednesday, August 1, 1923, at 3.30 o'clock p. m.

Respectfully,

THORNTON D. APOLLONIO,

Secretary.

The jitney bonds of Alfonso Roberto and Norfolk & Bristol Bus Company were received. Referred to the City Treasurer.

CLERK HIRE.

The pay roll of the Register of Deeds was submitted for payment of $3,160.33 from June 23 to July 14, work having been performed to that amount.

Approved and ordered paid.

CONSTABLES' BONDS.

The City Treasurer, after having duly approved of the same, submitted the constables' bonds of George L. Gilbert and Joseph A. McMorro.

Approved by the City Council.

SIDEWALK ORDERS.

Coun. BRICKLEY offered the following: Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along both sides of Birch street, from Corinth street to Penfield street, Ward 23, in front of the estates bordering thereon, said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone, with granite edgestones, under the provisions of chapter 196 of the Special Acts of 1917.

Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along the northerly side of St. Rose street, from No. 17 to No. 45, Ward 23, in front of the estates bordering thereon, said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone, with granite edgestones, under the provisions of chapter 196 of the Special Acts of 1917.

Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along both sides of Symmes street, from Fairview street to Walter street, Ward 23, in front of the estates bordering thereon, said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone, with granite edgestones, under the provisions of chapter 196 of the Special Acts of 1917.

Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along the easterly side of Hyde Park avenue, from Walk Hill street to 190 feet south of Eldridge road, Ward 23, in front of the estates bordering thereon, said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width and to be built of artificial stone, with granite edgestones, under the provisions of chapter 196 of the Special Acts of 1917.

Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along the northeastern side of Landseer street at No. 41, Ward 23, in front of the estates bordering thereon, said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width and to be built of artificial stone, with granite edgestones, under the provisions of chapter 196 of the Special Acts of 1917.

Coun. WATSON offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along the northeasterly side of Evergreen street, from Day street to South River avenue, Ward 14, in front of the estates bordering thereon, said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone, with granite edgestones, under the provisions of chapter 196 of the Special Acts of 1917.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

IMPROVEMENT OF STREET LIGHTING, CHARLESTOWN.

Coun. HAGAN offered an order—That the Public Works Department, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to increase and improve the street lighting service at Lexington, Princeton, Marion and Tufts streets, Ward 4, Charlestown.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

PUBLIC HEARING, GASOLINE LICENSE, DORCHESTER.

Coun. HAGAN offered an order—That a public hearing be granted by the Executive Committee to the people of the Dorchester district who are opposed to granting a permit for the sale and storage of gasoline at No. 224-226 Broadway street, Ward 17.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

FIVE-CENT FARE, CHARLESTOWN.

Coun. HAGAN offered an order—That the Board of Trustees of the Boston Elevated Railroad Company, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to establish a five-cent fare rate on at least one line of cars from Charlestown to Scollay square, between the hours of 12 midnight to 6 a. m.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

TRAFFIC OFFICER, "FOUR CORNERS," DORCHESTER.

Coun. HAGAN offered an order—That the Police Commissioner, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested at the urgent petition of the people of the Dorchester section, that a traffic officer be placed at the so-called "Four Corners," the junction of Washington street, Bowdoin avenue, Bowdoin street and Harvard street.

Coun. GILBODY—Mr. President, while I have no objection to the passing of the order, I would like to inform the councilor and the Council that I talked to the Police Commissioner concerning this matter, and he agrees to put a traffic officer at this particular place as soon as these fifty men that he is just adding to the force are trained and able to do that work, and I simply call the Councilor's attention to that fact because of the commissioner's acquiescence to the wishes of the people made through my request.

Coun. HAGAN—Mr. President, I should say that, in view of the information just received of Coun. Gilbody's interview with the Police Commissioner, there is no need for the order at all, and if he will follow that up and get the traffic officer at that point that is all the Councilor wants.

The order was withdrawn by unanimous consent.

BATH HOUSE SERVICE, CHARLESBANK.

Coun. HAGAN offered an order—That the Park Department, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to inform the City Council why the two floating bath houses at Charlebank have not been used since the summer of 1919, and whether it is the intention to have these floating bath houses in service at a later date.

Coun. HAGAN—Mr. President, I would ask in connection with that order that it be referred to the Executive Committee, and that the chairman of the Park Department be requested to come here this afternoon if possible.

REVOCATION OF GASOLINE PERMIT, HARVARD STREET.

Coun. HAGAN offered an order—That the City Council do not approve the granting of a permit to Sverre A. Hovind for the storage and sale of gasoline at 8 and 10 Harvard street, Dorchester, as the City Council believe that the storage of gasoline in this congested district will be a menace to the people who reside there, and a cause for mental worry and financial loss, and we ask the Street Commissioners and his Honor the Mayor to reconsider their decision and revoke the permit for the use of the building on these premises as a garage.

Coun. HAGAN—Mr. President, I am not opposing the reference of this order to the Executive Committee if there is a general desire to have it go through, but it seems to me that, in view of the fact that we gave the people of this district a public hearing at which the majority of the members of the City Council were present, we have a very clear insight into the existing conditions. It seems to me that the people have voiced their sentiment, but since that public hearing I have received a copy of the court decision. As was brought out at that meeting, one Davidson, who was protesting to the granting of the permit, brought this matter into court. We all saw a copy of what was there at least—that there is an aroused public opinion in this section of Dorchester towards the granting of a permit for the sale of gasoline and it is for the sale and storage of gasoline that I believe the City Council only have jurisdiction and not for the granting of the permit for the storage of the garage. This court decision is very clear and explicit. On the night of the hearing we did not have a copy of this court decision. I will read this to the benefit of the record. It is a final decree entered June 14, 1923.

This cause came on to be heard at this sitting and was argued by counsel; and thereupon on consideration thereof, it is ordered, adjudged and decreed that the respondents, their agents, servants, attorneys be and are hereby permanently enjoined and restrained from using or maintaining as a garage, for the storage, keeping or care of automobiles, or structure in the process of construction on the premises mentioned in the bill of complaint owned by the respondents on Harvard street and Washington street, that part of Boston called Dorchester, and from of fifty-two weeks in the year. I think it is snid politics—I think it is a pretty mean piece of politics to take away from the Executive Committee of which you are the chairman its duty of bringing in an order and instead coming in here with your separate order. What is the committee going to report now? If he introduces this order, what are they going to report? They won't have anything to report because Coun. Hagan has already taken care of it. I say that in so far as this order is concerned I am going to vote against it in this session of the Council. So far as the Executive Committee is concerned, if it wants to reframe that order, or adopt that identical order, I will vote for it, otherwise I vote against it.

Coun. HAGAN—Mr. President, I have no objection whatsoever to the order being reworded to emanate from the Executive Committee. I never have had any objection to that. I am perfectly willing that that should be granted at the suggestion of the gentleman opposite, that the order be sent to the Executive Committee and that it be re-drafted as an order from the Executive Committee in the language which it contains or any other language which will carry the intent of the order. I have no objection to that. And I want to say, Mr. President, that while I did have a statement to make at the public hearing before the people of that district, it is a matter of stenographic report and in the records that before I said anything I told them that I was talking to them as a citizen of Boston and a resident of the Dorchester district and not as a member of the City Council; so that I was not usurping the power or the authority of other members of the City Council. I divided myself and there as best I could, and I think he will find that that is in the record. Therefore this charge is as unfounded as are many of the charges made against me.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I want to say that in so far as his talk was concerned I did not hear it. I had left when that came up. I was there when he opened the meeting, and the report is also here that he acted as chairman, and that he did say that not only was he against it but every member of the committee the best of his opinion, and he was not talking then as an individual, neither was he talking as a resident of the district, and neither was he talking as a citizen of Boston. Just as talking as the chairman of the Executive Committee. But of course it is very very easy for him to say that. Mr. Hylton—Mr. President, the order was referred to the Executive Committee.

SOLDIERS' RELIEF.

Coun. BRICKLEY, for the Committee on Soldiers' Relief, submitted a report recommending the passage of an order for the payment of aid to soldiers and sailors and their families in the City of Boston for the month of August.

Report accepted; order passed.

CLOSING OF REGISTRY OF DEEDS.

Coun. MORIARTY offered an order—That the office of the Registry of Deeds be closed on week days, except Saturdays, at four o'clock, p. m., from August 1 to September 1, 1923, inclusive.

Coun. HAGAN—Mr. President, isn't this an order similar in character to that which passed this body a few weeks ago and which was vetoed by the Mayor and returned with an objection on his part? Is this going to receive similar action?

Coun. MORIARTY—No, it is only for the month of August.

Coun. HAGAN—What was the first order? The PRESIDENT—All the year.

Coun. MORIARTY—No—July, August and September.

Coun. HAGAN—I do not want to see the Council placed in the ridiculous position of passing an order a second time and then having it vetoed when I have in mind the very vigorous veto that came from the Mayor to the original order. It seems to me that that ought to be matter of serious thought as to whether we want to place ourselves in that position or not. I move, therefore, that it be referred to the Executive Committee.

The order was referred to the Executive Committee.

STREET OPENING PERMITS.

Coun. MORIARTY offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to instruct the Commissioner of Public Works not to issue any permits for street openings to public service corporations until the said corporations have restored the street surfaces to the original condition in which they were when opening permits were granted.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I want to say that we are criticised for the condition of our streets, and I think that criticism is rightly due in many instances. I find in many streets which have been opened within the last five years that the public service corporations have not been in getting permits for opening those streets, and that month after month after the openings have been made there has been a filling of some sort of material used to plug up the streets and that the streets are never back in the condition they were in prior to the opening. I have been in mind that I have been traveling over for the last eight or ten months every day in which there were fourteen openings made by the telephone company and that they have not been repaired properly. That street is West Newton street, from Albany street to Huntington avenue. But that is only one street. Tremont street, new street, in two or three years ago, is another. Dorchester street, South Boston, has had openings made in it and has not been put back in proper shape. In some of the new streets, I think, not only the telephone company but the Edison company and the gas company, even our own city departments, have made openings and have not put the streets back in the condition they were in and should be in, and I feel that, until all of the openings that have been made are repaired properly, no more permits should be granted to any of the public service corporations.

Coun. DONOGHUE—Mr. President, I believe that that order is rather a dangerous one. That is, if it is to be carried out—because of the fact that take, for instance, the gas company, there may be a leak in some house, and they have to open up the street in order to prevent the gas from leaking further. The telephone company the same way. People are demanding service. They want a telephone in case of sickness and other emergencies, and unless the company is allowed to open the streets it is impossible for them to connect their wires. The same applies to the Edison Light Company. Of course it is probable that the street should be put back into proper shape, but I do not believe that we should prevent any further openings until such time as the streets opened are put back into proper shape. I think that is the wrong way to go about it. There ought to be some provision made somewhat along the line that there very likely is—to have the streets put back into the condition that they were in previous to being opened, and I am opposed to any order which would prevent the Edison company, or the telephone company, or the gas company from making any openings in streets in emergency cases.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I have no objection to the emergency which the councilor on the opposite side has mentioned. It is all right about getting the Edison to do the work and get the lights on and get them to get them in, but go and try to get them in. It is all right to get a telephone in if you stand in, you might get it in. And about leaks of gas in streets, of course if we do things—I want to say prior to saying that that I introduced an order or a city ordinance here in 1921 requesting that all openings be made by the corporations and that they be filled in by the city so that they could be put back in their proper condition, but the Mayor vetoed my ordinance. I see the Commissioner of Public Works here, and I am satisfied to allow the order to go to the Executive Committee as long as the Mayor vetoes it. I am satisfied with an agreement. My whole thought is this—of having the streets put back in proper condition. I think we are entitled to that, and if someone doesn't do it I don't know when it is going to be done. It isn't only this administration but we can go back fifty administrations and find that the public service corporations have got by without putting the streets where openings have been made back in proper condition. I do not want to stop any emergency, but I am satisfied that where emergencies exist such opportunity should be given as will give the greatest relief; but as for putting in new lines it is about time that that permit be stopped. I will catch up a little and put streets back in proper condition.

The order was referred to the Executive Committee.

RECESS TAKEN.
